State Legislature Is History: GOP Praises, Dems Condemn

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — The 1969 legislature, condemned by its Democratic minority and hailed by the first Republican leadership in five years, wrote itself into history today, leaving behind more than 1,000 bills for Governor Rockefeller's action.

The curtain rang down on the session at 10:10 p.m. Friday after the lawmakers created a blue ribbon panel to conduct a $100,000 probe into campus riots and passed a supplemental budget of $71.5 million.

Democrats, who lost their last minute battle for restoration of $69 million in slashes in welfare and Medicaid funds and $23 million in school aid, said the legislature had surpassed Barry Goldwater in its conservative accomplishments.

The GOP praised itself for fiscal prudence, and projected its accomplishments into a program that would avoid a tax increase for New Yorkers for the next five years.

Rockefeller, whose liberal policies suffered their first major setback of his 10-year administration, lost no time in praising the legislature's accomplishments. He responded by signing into law a bill banning guns on campus, and approving a conservative backed measure prohibiting busing to achieve school integration.

Rockefeller also signed an $89 million pay increase package for state employees, including state police. The new law gives the bulk of the state work force a 5 per cent raise, while troopers get 5½ per cent. Both the general unit and the state police can now retire at half pay after 25 years service.

Unmentioned by the GOP leadership in the adjournment rush was an increase of $165,000 in lullus, or expense allowances for top committee personnel in the legislature, or the pay raises given top department heads in the Rockefeller administration. In the case of the commissioners of health and mental hygiene, this amounts to more than a $7,500 raise in the past 12 months.

The great question left by the legislature was the newly approved New York City decentralization bill, which won support from a majority of both the black legislators and the conservative lawmakers from New York City.

The bill, which splits the more than a million city school children into between 30 and 33 districts, was hailed by Rockefeller as a "milestone" in education. Its practical application, however, could raise a major racial conflict in the city.

Rockefeller hailed the decentralization bill and the fiscal program as the legislature's two great accomplishments.

On the financial bills, the governor hailed the legislature for "meeting the state's fiscal crisis by preserving New York's competitive status with other states."

Dog Warden Proposal At Meeting of Council

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON

Is Kingston going to the dogs? Two of the city's aldermen think so and will offer a solution at Tuesday night's meeting of the Common Council.

A motion will be jointly presented by Peter Mancuso (D-12th Ward) and Mrs. Florence S. Ludlow (D-Fourth Ward) calling for the hiring of a dog warden in the city. The two will also ask for a review of the city's current dog ordinance for any "loopholes."

The city now pays the Ulster County Association for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (ASPCA) $4,000 a year to control animals. According to the agreement, the ASPCA picks up wandering dogs and impounds them.

According to Mancuso, the agreement hasn't been working out too well. "The situation is becoming serious," the alderman told The Freeman. "The dogs are roaming at will, often in large packs. Property is being damaged and people are concerned for the welfare of their small children."

According to Mancuso, the city has a leash law which requires that dogs be kept under restraint, whether they are licensed or not. The fine for an owner of a loose dog, according to Mancuso, is $25. There are still a number of details to be worked out, the sponsors of the legislation admit. It is expected that the cost of a city dog control program with a warden and a truck will be somewhat higher than the $4,000 the city now pays.

There is also the question as to where the dogs will be housed once they are caught. It is hoped that an agreement can be worked out with the county ASPCA on that matter.

It is expected that the motion will be referred to the Council's committees on finance, ways and means and laws and rules for further study.

On Rosendale Shutdown

All State Can Give Is Advice

By SHANE CROSBY.

ALBANY

"I've never heard of such a thing in my 10 years in Albany."

So said State Deputy Controller John J. Feeney in an interview with The Freeman after he had received a telegram from Rosendale Village Mayor William P. Curran Friday informing the state that the village would suspend municipal services and lay off employees as of Sunday due to an almost empty treasury.

Feeney said "There is no way we can help them, except with advice," he said officials at the state's Audit and Control office would be in contact with Curran for more details on the extent of the emergency. "We want to check the Rosendale records here," said the Albany official.

Extreme Measure.

Feeney indicated that Curran's plan was an extreme measure, and said he had no knowledge of the Rosendale problem and would not have until the village's books in Albany are gone over.

The mayor sent a telegram to the Audit and Control office shortly before noon Friday informing them of the pending shutdown. His action came as somewhat of a shock to most village observers and he was chided by former Mayor Joseph

S. Reid for not apparently consulting of informing village trustees in open session before making the move.

Reid, in commenting on Mayor Curran's plan said "There is ample money" for the village in the form of back taxes and state aid.

Reid questioned the mayor's ability to operate under an austerity program, and said "I seriously question" Curran's reasoning for the shutdown that would leave the village with only a garbage collector on the payroll for next week.

Pointing to sources of revenue, Reid said two checks for $1,500 each were due from the state in the form of village aid and money from a recent tax sale of Main Street buildings that were being leveled earlier this week.

Of the state aid, Reid said he did not know why Curran had not received it, since one check was past due. Of the recent tax sale he asked "What has he done with this money?"

Curran said Friday that the village would be left with only one garbage collector for next week and without any municipal services, because, he said, there would be less than $200 in the bank after this week's pay checks were handed out.

The mayor said it takes between $4,000 and $6,000 to operate the village during an average month.

The layoff, scheduled for Sunday evening, would include two school crossing guards, one highway-garbage employee, nine part-time policemen and eight village officials' salaries.

Reid said the mayor "took an oath to protect the lives and property of the residents," that Curran was not living up to this oath if he goes ahead with the shutdown. Reid pointed to the school crossing guards and said the lives of children could be involved.

The former mayor said officers of his administration had taken up the job of school crossing guards when the regular guards were off due to sickness and suggested that Curran and others of the present administration do the same to protect children.

Just Paying Debts

Reid denied that his actions as mayor led to the current crisis in the village and in rebuttal to a Curran allegation that Reid had left the accounts dry after paying almost $20,000 in bills around election time, said "we were just paying the village's debts as should be done."

The length of the suspension could last from one week to more than 60 days, according to the Mayor. Curran said no monies are anticipated to be received until after June 30 when new tax bills become due. Water district bills are due in mid-July he said, making the money situation more acute.

Curran pleaded with taxpayers to cooperate in the emergency by following the special garbage schedule throughout next week. He also asked that taxpayers could help by paying taxes as soon as possible "out of the goodness of their hearts."

"I've been in office less than three weeks," he said Friday and "have spent next to nothing." He commented that there was about $1,000 in cash assets for the village when he

WEEPS FOR DEAD HUSBAND—Ila Fay, 21, wife of ex-convict Robert Samuel Dent, 22, wrings her hands and weeps as her husband lies dying on the front steps of the home where they were headed to visit their children. Dent was shot and killed by a lawman waiting at the house. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Kidnaps Policeman, Chase Ends in Death

BRYAN, Tex. (UPI)—Robert in a frantic, high-speed drama Samuel Dent sprawled in a pool of blood outside a white frame house where he thought he would see his children.

His wife of one year, Ila Fay Dent, sat in a lawn chair with a blood-spattered white washing machine between her and her husband's body. She wept.

"I don't know why they were so desperate," said Texas Highway Patrolman Kenneth Crone, 27, handcuffed but unharmed by the couple. "They said they had nothing to live for. He said he wouldn't be taken alive and she did too."

It was the final scene Friday persons had been beaten by hitchhikers and wanted to go to the hospital.

Dent and his wife forced Crone into the patrolman's car and set out for Wheelock, Tex., a near Bryan, to see Mrs. Dent's 2-year-old son and 1-year-old daughter by a prior marriage.

Capt. Jerry Miller of the Texas Department of Public Safety agreed to let the Dents see the children and give them a 15-minute head start if they would release Crone unharmed. "I'll keep the bargain," Dent replied.

But when Dent and his wife went to the small white house

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

The faith of ex-Air Force Pararescuer Steve Northern is attested to by the 51 men he saved from certain death while serving two tours of duty in Vietnam. At 22, Sgt. Northern has recorded more "combat saves" than any other person in aviation history. (A "combat save" is mostly under enemy fire, where the survivor would have met certain death or capture.)

While stationed at Danang he flew an average of 45 missions a month and on his days off he participated in Medical Civic Action Patrol flights, offering medical aid to local Vietnamese villagers in the area.

Northern has received four Silver Stars for "gallantry in action." He received his second star because he "volunteered to be lowered from his HH-3 helicopter to aid an immobilized survivor located in a position completely surrounded by hostile troops and gun positions." The citation continues, "Airman Northern carried the survivor to the hoist and shielded him with his own body as they were brought into the helicopter."

Now a civilian, Steve Northern plans to attend El Camino Junior College, Torrance, Calif. Speaking of his experiences in Vietnam, Steve says his faith pulled him through the tight spots. "It kept me going when I felt like giving up." Upon learning that a pilot was down he called upon God to "get me there before the VC arrive." He feels his prayers were answered. He adds, "We picked up men and escaped when all the odds were stacked against a successful mission. Surely more than skill was involved."

Find Body in Ellenville; Seek Identity of Victim

ELLENVILLE—Investigator Michael Mahoney and an identification detail from Troop F headquarters in Middletown investigated with village police.

Another drowning was investigated Friday by Dutchess County authorities, who reported the body of Mrs. Herbert (Charlotte R.) Wanser, 51, of North Quaker Lane, Hyde Park, was found in her car discovered partially submerged in the Wappingers Creek in Pleasant Valley.

Chief Detective Charles Borchers of the sheriff's office said Mrs. Wanser had attended a bowling dinner at a Pleasant Valley restaurant Thursday night, and left for home about 10 p. m. She apparently was driving along North Road when she stopped to back her car to turn into Sherow Road, when the vehicle backed down an embankment into the creek.

Chester Relyea of Pleasant Valley discovered the car at 3:15 p. m. yesterday and notified authorities. When the vehicle was hauled from the water the body was found. It was reported that her husband had not reported her missing because she frequently visited with relatives in the area.

Dutchess County Medical Examiner D. Chester Golding ruled the death accidental pending a formal inquest. Death was due to asphyxiation resulting from drowning.

Ulster County Coroner Arthur C. Chipp of Kerhonkson ordered the body removed to the county morgue in Kingston Hospital where an autopsy was to be performed. State Police BCI

Fire Levels Accord Barn
ACCORD
Approximately 50 volunteer firemen from this district and Allgerville on Friday waged a losing battle as they fought flames that swept a huge dairy barn on the Edgar Marshall farm on Whitfield Road about a mile off Route 209. Chief Edward Kelder of Accord Fire Company said the barn, reportedly more than 200 feet long, was engulfed in flames when the first unit of firemen arrived on the scene. The chief said several head of young cattle were saved. The main herd of milking cows numbering about 60 were in pasture when the fire started. Flames belched from the 2-story frame building as firemen poured tons of water pumped from a nearby creek into the roaring blaze. Firefighters managed to save the nearby milk house and other out-buildings on the farm. Several pieces of farm machinery and hay and feed were destroyed by the flames. Firemen were at the scene shortly before 3:40 p. m. until about 9 p. m. The cause of the blaze was not immediately determined, but Chief Kelder said he was told last night a car was being moved when it backfired just before the fire started.

Kingston Fires Quickly Doused
KINGSTON
Detectives today investigated a car fire and a blaze under the loading platform of a wholesale grocery warehouse on Field Court, which fire officials termed incendiary. At 6:43 p. m. Friday, Deputy Chief Robert Maines directed firemen from Engine 1 and Truck 1 as they quelled a fire in rubbish and cardboard cartons under a platform of the UPA Corp. building on Field Court. Pressurized water and indian tanks were used to douse the flames. Engine 3 from Cornell Station was dispatched at 3:40 a. m. to a lot at Murray and Chambers Street, where an abandoned automobile was in flames. A booster line and 1½-inch pump stream were used to extinguish the fire. Deputy Maines was in command at the scene.

Speeding Ticket
Wayne Longto, 21, of 321 Hasbrouck Avenue, was cited by Kingston Police early today for driving at a speed not reasonable and prudent.

Bard Students Hope to be on Target for Mock Riot

ANNANDALE-ON-HUDSON—The venerable halls of ivy at Bard College may become covered with whipped cream during a spoof on campus rioting scheduled for May 10. One thousand cream pies will be the arms employed in a mock battle slated to begin at 2 p. m. on the lawn between Albee and Warden's, men's dormitories in the center of the tradition-laden campus.

Two teams will vie for the highest number of bull's-eyes. Each team will consist of 75 male and female students, and each team will have 500 pies ready for action. Rules drawn up include staying behind the white lines, carrying only one pie at a time, and a host of others. The winning team, to be chosen by impartial faculty judges, will be host at a lawn beer party. Another rule: no beer is to be tapped until all pie plates, if not all the whipped cream, have found their way to the trash cans. Traditionally a season of college upheavals, spring at Bard is especially tense as the college's major academic demands are scheduled in May and early

Callahan - Riley Betrothal Told

CHRISTINE MARIE CALLAHAN
(Van Dervort photo)

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin F. Callahan of 7 St. George Court, Elmendorf Heights, Kingston, announce the engagement of their daughter, Christine Marie, to James A. Riley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn A. Riley of North Granville.

The bride-elect will be graduated in June from State University of New York at Cobleskill.

Her fiancé is attending Adirondack Community College at Glens Falls where he is majoring in Business Administration.

An October wedding is planned.

Surprise Bridal Shower Held

A surprise bridal shower was given recently for Miss Gayle F. Nelson daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Nelson of Glenrie, Saugerties, at VFW Hall, Livingston Street, Saugerties. The gala was given by members of the bridal party, the Misses Joan and June Celi, Miss Theresa Matterna, Mrs. Arline Krusher and Miss Debbie Krusher.

Approximately 70 persons attended the event from West Saugerties, Saugerties, New Jersey, Connecticut, the Bronx, Rhinebeck, Napanoch, Albany, Bearsville, Germantown, Kingston, Glasco, M.T., Marion, Malden-on-Hudson, Rosendale, Highland, Glenrie and Hyde Park.

Miss Nelson became the bride of Robert W. McBenett of West Saugerties on Sunday, April 27 at St. Mary of the Snow Church, Saugerties.

Hughes - Keefe Nuptials Held

Mrs. Joseph (Mildred M.) Hughes, widow of Joseph William Hughes, of 54 Hurley Avenue, this city, exchanged nuptial vows with John P. Keefe of 114 Foxhall Avenue, this city, on Sunday, April 20 at St. Mary's Church, Kingston.

The Rev. Edward I. Farrelly officiated at the ceremony. Theodore Riccobono, organist, provided traditional wedding selections. Dennis and Gregory Decker, nephews of the bridegroom, served as altar boys.

The bride wore a navy blue suit-dress with light blue accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Mrs. E. Ronald Rifenburg, daughter of the bride, Hurley, was matron of honor. She wore a navy blue dress with white lace trim and a corsage of pink carnations.

Joseph J. Magnino Jr. of Yorktown Heights, son-in-law of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Edward C. Decker of Kingston, nephew of the bridegroom; and David VanEtten, Hurley, son-in-law of the bride.

A reception was held at Hurley Reformed Church hall after the ceremony.

The couple are on their wedding trip to Vermont and Massachusetts.

The bridegroom is employed at Diskay, Wall Street, Kingston.

Use Chain Accessories

The wrappes suit, one of the season's newest shapes, includes a long jacket sashed and banded low over a matching skirt. Monet suggests a mix of delicate and bold chains swinging a petite drop and a crested pendant to accent this look. Matching earrings and bracelet are added for a total look of elegant accessorizing.

Eisenhower Highway

Now that the official mourning period for the late President Eisenhower is over, suggestions for living memorials to him are beginning to appear. Sixty-three senators are backing a bill by Senator Wallace F. Bennett, Utah Republican, to name the Glen Canyon Dam in Northern Arizona, for the soldier-statesman.

But perhaps the outstanding and most lasting project of his eight-year administration which is nationwide is the Interstate Highway system. Suggestions have been made in one or both houses of Congress to name various sections of the 40,000-mile network for Eisenhower, but a memorial that seems even more appropriate is to name the entire system the Eisenhower Interstate Highway.

Now, sections of the great highway system carry numbers to identify them. A generic name identifying the whole system would carry the name of the man in whose administration it was conceived and begun. It reaches all corners of the nation. Nothing could be more appropriate.

General Eisenhower gave the interstate system the start that is carrying it through to completion. He supported the legislation, secured the preliminary design, procured the cost estimates, and pushed through the appropriations. The highway is a modern miracle of highway engineering. It binds all the capitals of all the states except Alaska and Hawaii and they share in the system in their own areas.

The Eisenhower Interstate Highway is a name that would be a perfect tribute to the innovator who more than any other man was responsible for it.

Bicycle Laws and Safety

With the advent of good weather, there has been a sharp rise in bicycle riding in the city and rural districts. There also has been an increase in the number of bicyclists injured due to violation of the law and carelessness.

Parents should take the responsibility to see that their children understand the law governing the operation of bicycles and the rules of safety. Civic and service groups also might consider conducting community-wide bicycle safety programs.

Local laws require all bicycle riders to obey traffic laws, including regulations governing traffic lights, stop signs, one-way streets and riding on the right side of the streets. Riding on sidewalks and against traffic is prohibited under the laws. Enforcement of these laws should be undertaken by police authorities in the city and county for the safety of the bike operator, the motorists and pedestrians.

More and more children are finding their bicycles a medium of exercise and play and parents should see to it that their youngsters ride them safely and correctly.

It also is important that a parent be sure that his child's bike is in good, safe working condition.

May has been designated American Bike Month and in order to increase the knowledge of safe bicycling many retailers will offer safety literature and free bicycle inspection.

If we are to check the number of accidents, parents must impress upon the children that they have a duty to obey the laws applying to bicycles.

Why Doesn't Congress Protect Workers' Rights?

WASHINGTON — With all the hullabaloo in recent years about "civil rights" and "equal rights," it's incredible that nothing has been done by Congress to spare individuals the hostility and even penalties they suffer for refusing to join a labor union. Again and again, bills have been offered in Congress to safeguard the "right to work" and the right to refrain from joining a union if one desires. Many letters have been received by this writer telling of the intimidation undergone by persons who cross picket lines or decline to join a union.

Senator Sam J. Ervin, Jr., Democrat of North Carolina, who used to be a State Supreme Court Justice, has again introduced a bill calling for Senate action to protect the rights of workers. He said to the Senate:

"Since the National Labor Relations Board and the Supreme Court nullified the chief objectives of the Taft-Hartley Act in the Allis-Chalmers case, unions have imposed fines on members which in some cases have run to as high as 20,000 dollars. In the Allis-Chalmers case, and in other instances, these fines have been imposed for working during a strike. Now, in the Scofield case, the Supreme Court has ruled that it is not an unfair labor practice for a union to impose a fine for exceeding union-imposed production quotas — which is the same as union-imposed quotas on the amount of money a man can earn."

"I introduced an amendment last year during the civil rights debate, similar to the bill I introduce today . . . "Bills have been introduced for years seeking to reverse the decisions which permit union fines, but so far no hearings have ever been held or even scheduled by the responsible committees."

Complaints of workers are numerous. One woman writes as follows: "From the first day I came with the company until now, there hasn't been a single day go by that two or three union members haven't been by to see me on the job, and impress the fact upon me that I must join their union. They have told me repeatedly that those who do not join are 'really given the treatment' and don't last long — They tell of how they 'ran off so-and-so' because she or he didn't join. They tell how badly the bosses treat those who aren't in the union because they know they can get away with it, as the employee doesn't have the union to protect him."

Lots of people have wondered why the "equal rights" movement has never included any "demonstrations" or "protests" in behalf of those workers who have insisted on exercising the privilege which the Labor Relations Act gives them — namely, to refrain from joining a union. Congress, in writing the Taft-Hartley Act, permitted the states to adopt laws prohibiting compulsory union membership, and some have done so. But in other states the Federal Law's provision allowing "union shop" contracts often compel workers to join a union.

What is the reason for the reluctance of Congress to pass a law which will give citizens in one state the same rights as residents of another state, and do away with enforced unionization? It must be assumed that the legislators in Congress and in many of the states are afraid of the political power of labor unions. Large sums of money are raised by organized effort among union members to help elect those candidates who are ready to do the bidding of labor-union leaders.

Although the Federal Corrupt Practices Act says clearly that neither corporations nor labor unions can contribute money to the campaigns of candidates for federal office, the unions have found ways of circumventing the law. Congress is well aware of what has been happening, but has done nothing about it.

"Equal Rights" has been widely publicized as a meritorious cause, and the word "discrimination" has frequently been used to deplore any form of inequality as between individuals. But the fact is that those persons who decline to join a union often find themselves harassed.

Maybe Senator Ervin's attempt to get Congress to give equal rights to workers in America will get some attention, and, of course, it might even lead to the enactment of a law on the subject if President Nixon lends his support to the proposed legislation. For it would mean a restoration of rights taken away from the citizens by the National Labor Relations Board and the Supreme Court.

Reminder, Campus Rebels: How Is 'Bread' Buttered

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The young college protesters draw great attention by shouting about the "military-industrial complex," the CIA, defense-oriented research in the schools and the like. They do not merit the attention.

The truth is that in the matter of protest they are mere game-players and dilettantes. If their indignation were more than half-serious, they would not be attending the schools they attack.

By attending and in many cases residing there, they are in considerable part living off the profits of the military industrial complex.

No one knows what proportion of general corporate earnings and activity can be ascribed to the complex. But it has to be very substantial, not only directly through prime and secondary defense contracts but indirectly as result of the inevitable wave effect through the whole industry.

In the fiscal year ending this June 30, the federal tax on corporate earnings will yield the Treasury about $38 billion. The outlook for next year is about the same.

Nearly $15 billion comes to the government in excise taxes, and some of these are manufacturers' levies which reflect sharply the level of industrial activity.

All aside from this latter revenue, the corporate income tax intake represents about 20 cents of every U. S. tax dollar. By next year, higher education will get nearly $5 billion of federal moneys. The total should be around $4.7 billion this year.

Federal funds now represent nearly one-quarter of total national expenditures from all sources for higher education. U. S. money, indeed, pays for two-thirds of ALL research and development work performed today by universities and colleges. And, in the 1965-70 span, the federal government will have paid a healthy share of construction costs in the erection of $9 billion worth of college classrooms.

Nor can state revenues be overlooked. In fiscal 1968, the states collected $2.519 billion in corporate income taxes. For the current fiscal year a fair estimate would be $2.750 billion. No small part of this intake can be laid directly or indirectly to the profits of the military industrial complex.

Moreover, the states, too, apply some excises which are in fact or effect manufacturers' taxes.

In fiscal 1967, the last year for which complete figures are available, the states spent 7.728 billion on all state institutions of higher education. Totals have obviously risen a good deal since then.

California, the great nesting place of the prime defense contract, spent $770 million in fiscal 1967 on its unequalled collection of nine university branches and 18 state colleges.

The vehement protesters at some of these California schools seem willing to accept a great deal of tainted "military-industrial" money in exchange for the privilege of protesting against just a little of it.

Actually, of course, the students' dependence on federal and state munificence to support them in their dilettantish game of revolution is greater than figures on corporate taxes suggest. For it is clear that the military-industrial complex materially enlarges federal-state individual income taxes. At the federal level, these amount to 46 cents of each tax dollar.

The headlines now and then recount cheap victories scored by college protesters on the outer perimeters of the military-industrial battle ground. There are not likely to be any big triumphs. They are in the hypocritical business of fighting sham battles, living mean-while off the things they profess to struggle against.

Drew Pearson Says Bank Robberies Help Negro Revolution, Says Carmichael

Anti-De Gaulism

On Sept. 26, 1968, Drew Pearson, reporting from Paris, wrote that the French people were by no means behind de Gaulle's anti-American moves and that a majority appeared to oppose him.

Pearson went into a good many details regarding sentiment in France, a forerunner of what happened in the national referendum last week which led to de Gaulle's resignation.

WASHINGTON — Stokely Carmichael, the Negro rabble-rouser from the West Indies, has now taken refuge in pro-Communist Guinea in West Africa after denying reports published in this column that this is what he would do.

From a safe place outside the United States, Carmichael gave a significant interview to the German publication "Der Spiegel," which throws light on the financial sources of the Black Revolution.

Asked by "Der Spiegel": "How do you finance your revolution?" Carmichael replied:

"There are three ways to get something to work for it, to beg for it, or to take it. We are using all three methods. For instance, there may be bank robberies in the United States and more and more often by blacks."

"Since blacks are responsible people, they hand on a good part of the money to the organizers of the revolution."

"This is the third method — after all, America also has taken everything it owns today."

"Alleged Democrats"

One reason the five-year extension of Federal aid to public schools was beaten on the House floor last week was that key Democratic chairmen of House committees and subcommittees deserted their party to join the Republican-Democratic coalition.

These alleged Democratic leaders supported the much weaker education bill favored by President Nixon. Here's the roll call of Democratic committee chairmen who voted for the Nixon substitute:

W. R. Poage, Tex., Chairman of the Agriculture Committee; George Mahon, Tex., Chairman of the Appropriations Committee; John McMillan, S. C., Chairman of the District of Columbia Committee; Wayne Aspinall, Colo., Chairman of the Interior and Insular Affairs Committee; Richard Ichord, Mo., Chairman of the Internal Security Committee; Edward Garmatz, Md., Chairman of the Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee; William Colmer of Mississippi, Chairman of the Rules Committee; and Olin Teague, Tex., Chairman of the Veterans Affairs Committee.

Conflict of Interest

The closer you look at the appointment of Otto Otepka to the Subversive Activities Control Board, the more difficult it is to understand how President Nixon and Senate GOP Leader Everett Dirksen could endorse him.

Otepka not only received his loudest support but actually collected money from rightwing extremists whose idea of "subversives" includes the late President Eisenhower and the late Sen. Robert Kennedy.

The lobbying drive in Otepka's behalf was led by the Liberty Lobby, which is under the thumb of the Nazi mastermind, Willis Carto. The whole nest of Nazis whom Carto has planted in the shadow of Capitol Hill ought to be investigated by the Subversive Activities Control Board. This would put Otepka in the position of investigating his most vigorous supporters.

The fund-raising drive to help Otepka pay his legal bills was led by James M. Stewart, a rightwing extremist who circulated a special newspaper to solicit money for the cause. The same newspaper also urged the readers to subscribe to a number of rightwing propaganda sheets, including the "Herald of Freedom" published by Frank Capell.

One of Capell's pamphlets carried the fantastic charge that the Communists murdered actress Marilyn Monroe as a special favor for the late Bobby Kennedy. Capell was earlier convicted, along with three other rightwingers, of concocting an unspeakable smear against former California Senator Tom Kuchel.

The Otepka fund-raising appeal also invited readers to subscribe to the John Birch Society's magazine "American Opinion" and the Rev. Billy James Hargis' wild, rightwing publication "Christian Crusade."

"Smearing Otepka"—Dirksen Otepka can't claim these drives were conducted without his consent or cooperation. He posed for special pictures taken for the fund-raising publication. In one picture, he posed with Julius Butler, Nicholas Nonnenmacher and others who are active in rightwing causes.

Otepka unhesitatingly accepted more than $22,000 raised for him by Stewart. Throughout the fund-raising campaign, Otepka also appeared at rightwing rallies and associated with rightwing fanatics.

Despite all this, President Nixon appointed Otepka to a $36,000-a-year job investigating the subversives who backed him.

When the New York Times published a mild story charging that Otepka had spoken at a rally arranged and attended chiefly by John Birch Society members, Sen. Dirksen wrathfully accused the Times of smearing Otepka. The organ-voiced senator declared that the rally — the God, Family and Country Rally in Boston on April 4 — had been headed by the "respected" Dean Clarence Manion.

For Dirksen's information, Manion happens to be a member of the National Council of the John Birch Society.

Note: President Nixon not only appointed Otepka to a $36,000-a-year job but also named Otepka's rightwing attorney, Roger Robb, to the Federal bench. The Liberty Lobby and John Birch Society are now pushing to get these two men confirmed.

Advice to Long-Hairs

A long-haired, bearded young man in flamboyant clothes called on Rep. Spark Matsunaga, (D-Hawaii), the other day, seeking a Federal job.

Matsunaga, one of three Japanese-Americans in Congress, told him: "Listen, you go get a haircut and shave and put on a decent suit, and I'll try to do something for you."

ALL I SAID WAS, "BREAK IT UP, RUIN" ... AND HE DID!

Jim Bishop: Reporter

Silence is a harsh weapon. It enveloped the family of Angelo Finella years ago and it was never lifted by a curse, a blow, a kiss or death.

Angelo was my father's friend. He lived next door and he had hair as black and shiny as a raven's wing. He had a good-looking wife and two boys. On Sundays, his younger brother Pietro showed up for dinner.

Pietro was a dandy. He dressed rich and wore silk ties. He spent money in dance halls. There were a few freckles around his nose and Pietro hid them with a whitish cream. One day he disappeared. That quick.

I asked Mr. Finella about his brother and he stared and said nothing. My father gave me the same stare. "What Pietro?" he said. The silence engulfed two families. It remained that way even when we moved away. No one ever mentioned the name Pietro.

I was an adult when I met some cousins of the Finellas in New York. They seemed glad to see me and we talked about the pinocchio games my father played with Angelo. Casually, I said: "How is Pietro?" and they withdrew the welcome mat. The blank stares looked through me. It was obvious that I had said a bad word.

One of the relatives worked near my place of business and we had lunch together many times. He said that Angelo and his wife and children still lived in the same house on Rutgers Avenue. Little by little, I worked this relative to the point where he would admit that there was a person named Pietro.

It was a source of distress to him, but I had to know what happened. Little by little, the puzzle was put together. None of it was easy. Nor was I permitted to ask too many questions at one sitting. Pietro had gone to bed with a bad woman. Then he had married her secretly. There was a baby boy and a sickness transmitted from her to him.

Angelo Finella knew the politicians. Some of them owed him favors. The woman was put in a county asylum. Pietro was sent away. No one knew where. No one knew what happened to the baby boy. On several occasions, I was told that none of it was my business to know. My mother was old and blind when I mentioned Pietro's name and she threatened me with her cane.

On another occasion, I thought I saw Mrs. Finella on a bus. I waved but she looked right through me without blinking. The long black hair — if it was truly her — had big strands of white. It may have been someone else. My father refused to discuss the Finellas at all. The best I could get from him was: "Angelo was my friend. That's all. A friend."

When I was a young reporter, I used my police card to get into the county asylum, but they had no Mrs. Pietro Finella in their records. She may have been committed under her maiden name, but I had no notion of what it might be. A doctor took me for a walk through the place, and a couple of old ladies begged me to mail letters to their children. The doctor asked me to refuse.

"They think their children want them," he said. "They don't." He shrugged. "So the old ladies delude themselves into believing that we don't mail the letters." I wondered if any of the old ladies was Pietro's wife. The doctor walked me to the gate and shook hands. The sun felt warm.

Time began to tick for the Finellas too, ironically, it was the son of Angelo who died first. He had rheumatic fever. The silence remained like a hood over the family. They would talk of anything except Pietro. Some of my family began to disappear into the gentle mists, and it seemed as though I was the only one left who was interested in what happened.

I received an anonymous phone call that Pietro's wife was working as a maid in Bayonne. I drove out one day. The lady was white-haired and had a half dozen games of tic-tac-toe going on her face. But she was not a Finella and had never met Pietro. She had been a resident at the asylum, but that proved nothing.

A couple of weeks ago, Angelo died. The address in the newspaper was the one I recall from childhood. The mystery will never be solved. All I can do is guess.

There was no bad woman. There was no baby, no disease, and no one was put in an asylum. That's the story Angelo told my father and a few of his relatives. It is possible that Angelo caught Pietro with Mrs. Finella. In a rage, he killed Pietro. It might explain why they never moved from that house . . .

Kingston Teen Groups Doing Their Beneficial Bit

FLAG PROJECT — Fifth Ward teens Donna Cahill and Jackie Robins sell flag to Gary Carlson as part of initial community service fund raising project. The newly organized Teen Club plans a variety of activities to assist residents of the area and provide social outlets as well. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

KINGSTON May 18 when election of officers will take place. Meanwhile teens in the Fifth Ward through the efforts of Alderman Jack Finch have launched on a continuing project of community service.

Currently the Fifth Ward Teen Club is engaged in selling American flags as both a fund raising and community improvement program. Projected activities of the fledgling group include clean up in the ward, possible betterment of Loughran Park through work projects and general assistance where called for in their area.

Temporary officers were named at a recent meeting and include Stephen Sharot, president; Jackie Robins, secretary and Donna Cahill, treasurer. The first meeting brought 45 teens to the Brigham School. The group meets every second and fourth Tuesday and it is hoped that with more adult assistance the teens can go to a weekly schedule.

At present a basketball program has been organized to answer the clamor for more sports activity in the ward. Finch who started the idea of a Ward Teen Club said he was overwhelmed with the response and gratified at the teen enthusiasm.

Maybe with the Fifth Warders as an example other teen clubs of this nature will be formed throughout the city.

Bright spring finds two teen clubs in Kingston working hard on fund raising benefits in the name of community service. St. Mary's CYO Teen Club has slated a dance Friday, May 9, to raise funds for an outing for 25 children of the Mother Cabrini Home, Esopus. The benefit will be held at the school hall with dancing to the music of the Jade Red from 7:30 to 11 p. m.

Making plans for the dance are Steve Longendyke, chairman; Lou Tiano, Barb Geary, Ginger Kiernan, Marie Beichert, John Carter, Mike Pugliese, Diane Parkhurst and Jim McTague.

Proceeds will be used to finance a trip to the Catskill Game Farm for the Cabrini children. Joan Geisel is chairman with the entire membership participating in the project.

Also on the benefit list is a plan to raise money for the parish CYO PeeWee baseball league.

Marie Beichert, club president announced that the club will sponsor a bus trip to Palisades Amusement Park Thursday, May 15. Tickets which must be purchased in advance are available from Penny Maurer, Ginger Kiernan, Barb Geary or Joan Geisel. Buses will leave 10 a. m. from St. Mary's School. All interested teen may participate.

The next meeting of the teen group will be 7 p. m. Sunday,

DANCE PLANNERS — Deep in details of the St. Mary's CYO Teen Club dance are planners (L-R) Steve Longendyke, dance chairman; Marie Beichert, club president; John Carter and Joan Geisel, chairmen of the Mother Cabrini outing which will be financed by proceeds of the dance. The event will be held Friday, May 9 at the school hall from 7:30 to 11 p. m. Music will be by the Jade Red. (Freeman photo by Haines).

Youth in the News Facing Busy Spring

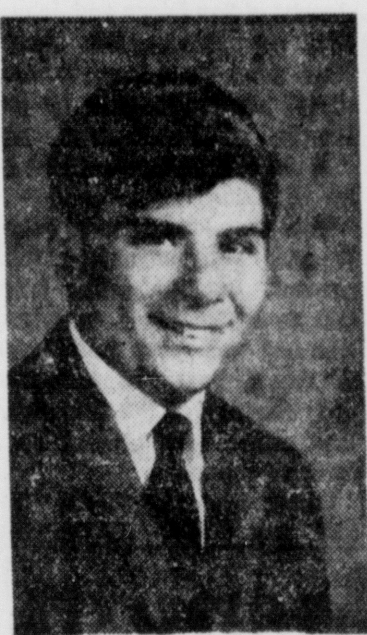

James Ambrose, president of the New York State Chapter of the Future Business Leaders of America, will preside at the organization's annual convention, this weekend in Niagara Falls.

Ambrose, son of Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore Ambrose of 130 West Chestnut Street, is a senior at Kingston High School. His election last year in Albany marked the first time in the four-year history of the organization that a high school student had been elected to its highest state office.

The Kingston Club, with 122 members, is the largest in the state. Advisors are Mrs. Elizabeth Milano and Richard Boduch. Santo Perry is president of the Kingston Chapter.

Ambrose told The Freeman that he expects 38 members of the Kingston Club to attend the convention. The group left Thursday night.

Members will be participating in various contests on a state level including parliamentary procedure, Mr. and Mrs. Future Business leader, public speaking and spelling and vocabulary. Individual chapters will compete for best chapter exhibit, largest chapter atten-

Rondout Valley HS Weekend Swings Into Concert Phase

Weekend activities at Rondout Valley Central School have reached a midway pitch.

And pitch will be the order of tonight as the Rondout Valley High School and Middle School combine forces for the spring concert. Sweet sounds will get underway at 8 p. m. in the high school auditorium.

Guest soloist will be Christina Gorham, a senior voice major at Eastman School of Music. She will sing Mi Chiamano from La Boheme; Noble Seegnors from Les Huguenots and The Impossible Dream from Man of LaManche.

Under the direction of Martin Kelly, the Middle School fifth and sixth grade girls chorus, and boys choir and fifth and sixth grade mixed choir will perform.

The seventh and eighth grade girls choir, the high school Bonnie Ludlow, treasurer. Faculty and the RCVS Choral advisors served as chaperones for the dance.

Contests figured largely on the RCVS horizon in recent evening will be Linda Sarr, weeks.

Art students Marcia Kahle and Audrey Mathews are working on posters for the 1969 Community Concerts contest.

The program promises a variety to suit every taste with Gilbert and Sullivan to You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown on the agenda.

Featured soloists for the RCVS Choral presentation are Carol Mikalonis, Caroline Robertaccio, Nancy Boss, Laurie Barringer, Dale Mayberry, Lee Gazlay, Keith Gorham and Steven Davis.

Last night was the Freshman Class Dance at the high school cafeteria. Music for dancing was provided by the Fun Sons.

Theme for the gala bash was Under the Juniper Tree. Class of 1972 is being led by Danny Schlifftmann, president; Beauford Woods, vice president;

Kathy Salvatore, secretary and girls choir, the high school Bonnie Ludlow, treasurer. Faculty and the RCVS Choral advisors served as chaperones for the dance.

Campus Hums With Activities

Northern Dutchess students, and a southern Ulster site are much in the news from Dutchess Community College.

Jay Rosenberg of Rhinebeck and Christopher MacEachen of Hyde Park helped produce The Spectator, student newspaper which won top honors in a nationwide competition for the third consecutive year.

The Dutchess publication received an All American rating in the Associated Collegiate Press competition sponsored by the graduate school of journalism at the University of Minnesota. Student newspapers from more than 60 college and universities across the nation entered the 80th annual competition.

Staff Posts

MacEachen is a co-editor and Rosenberg is a staff member. John Nadeau is director of publications at the Poughkeepsie college.

Rocking Horse Ranch, Highland, will be the spot for the final activity of spring weekend.

Final arrangements are being completed this week for the seasonal fling. Dates for this year's festivities are May 9 through 11.

Local Youth To Form Corps

A group of Kingston teenagers will be meeting next week for the purpose of forming a youth corps in the area.

Any teenagers interested in the proposed organization may attend the group's first meeting Thursday, May 8 at 4 p. m. in the community room of Britt's Department Store in the Kingston Plaza.

The meeting will be for the purpose of organization and discussion of possible community oriented projects.

Folksinger Phil Ochs and the Brooklyn Bridge will present a concert Friday night to start the gala on the way to success.

Chose Queen

Saturday's formal dinner dance at the Meadowbrook Lodge, Newburgh, will be climaxed by the crowning of the spring weekend queen.

Sunday students will enjoy the recreation facilities at the Rocking Horse Ranch, Highland.

Rogers Higgins of Wappingers Falls and Robert Contursi of Poughkeepsie are heading a committee in charge of social events. Mrs. Marion Russell, cultural adviser and Gary Pfeiffer, student counselor, are supervising arrangements.

This is the season for spring fever to take a social turn and area teens are in tune with the times.

New Paltz Students Strike Right Notes

NEW PALTZ Students at New Paltz Central School are prepared to greet spring with many a musical note.

Last night the middle school presented part one of the Spring Festival of Arts. Choir and brass quartet selections were followed by a musical revue, That Certain Age, featuring sets and costumes by the cast.

Part two will be presented May 9 with art and fashion exhibits as a highlight. Concert band and woodwind ensemble will perform also.

It has been a busy first year for the vocal music department in the new headquarters on South Putt Road, and just to celebrate, a choral spring concert has been slated by the department for 8 p. m. Thursday, May 15. The new high school auditorium will be the site of the festivities.

Members of the choir and chorus who represented the high school as members of the 1969 Ulster County Chorus, Choral Clinic and NYSSMA Area All-State will present excerpts of their programs and a variety of choral compositions of contrasting styles, as well as vocal solos will be programmed.

Kathy Deitrich, senior, and Harry Houze, junior, will be piano and organ accompanists. Extending invitations to the public to attend are Mrs. Mildred Bond, vocal music director; Ronald Schneider, Linda Mazur and Florence Babb, choir officers.

Today the Middle School Band under the direction of Albert Rothstein is in competition at the State Festival in Washingtonville. Results will be made known next week.

Tours, conferences and competitions also figure on the New Paltz High School scene.

Representatives of the Library Assistants Club recently attended a council meeting at Rondout Valley High School led by Sandy Hernwall, outgoing president. Others attending from New Paltz were Cathy Barclay, Diane Ruger, Holly Hernwall, Mary Ann Pratt and Jean Laffan.

Crystal Zoerner of Walkkill was named president for the next year, succeeding Sandy. The next council meeting will be held in the fall at Ontario.

Eleven seniors from New Paltz recently visited Daytop Village, Swan Lake. The village is a completely volunteer drug rehabilitation center.

Those who accompanied Mr. and Mrs. John L. Wyman were Arlene Osterhout, Debbie Crane, Bonnie Hill, Julie Moerbeck, Dede Coutant, Griselle Alvarez, Christine Thoben, Lorraine Palonis, Donna Jacobs, Andy Wexler and Larry Cotton.

In quite a different field members of the Industrial arts class participated in the annual Central Hudson lamp building contest.

Local winners were Thomas Majestic, first place; Louis Wattles, second; Dan Ingraham, third; Charles Johnson, fourth, and Jeff Draffen, fifth.

Majestic's entry has been sent to Poughkeepsie to compete with other area schools for additional awards.

TEEN SCENE: A Sharp Look at Rumpus on Campus

By LEI

The tactics of confrontation are adding an entirely new element to the considerations of those who are planning to go to college. Probably most seniors wouldn't go so far as to apply to a college because of the disorders it had been through, but campus demonstrations must be of particular interest to the student of today, and evaluating what they're worth deserves a little brain-spaining.

The purpose—or at least the best purpose—of school attendance is to gain an education, and this is true of college, as well as grade and high schools. The purpose of any school is to teach. Some schools teach better than others, but, sadly, enough, there is no perfect school, and all-to-many schools fall far short of any realistic ideal.

Students in school have the right to a good education. Unfortunately, not all of them will profit from it, but they must be provided with the opportunity to learn all they can and will. The farther a student progresses in his education, the better-qualified he is to judge the quality of the instruction offered to him. Often, by the time a student reaches college, he may believe there are flaws in the system that is educating him.

Educators hang in with that, surprisingly enough, they may be unable to agree on where the flaws exist. Most of us may be familiar with the works of author Paul Goodman, including one book, "Compulsory Miseducation" which contains an attack on American education that any confrontation leader could envy.

Yes, today's colleges are in need of change. What changes, and how they should be caused is a question every student—and every educator—must decide. Student demonstrations are an exceedingly visible, dramatic way to call attention to the inadequacy of the school system. They force people to face the fact that not all "institutions of higher learning" deserve the title.

Unfortunately, there are side effects. As a result of these confrontations, the teaching process in many colleges has been completely washed out. By closing the colleges, and vandalizing their facilities, often student demonstrators have harmed their avowed purpose.

When this occurs, it, of course, raises the question as to whether students are really demonstrating for a better education, or whether they are using these demands as an excuse to raise the roof. Further, many students seem to demonstrate concerning conditions that have very little direct bearing on the one thing—the only thing—they should demand from school—an education.

Confrontation can be a valid tool in forcing those in authority to face shortcomings in their institutions. However, it would seem that discussion and negotiation would be the effective steps for actually bringing about the changes. If communications are so poor that these have no effect probably demonstration will have none either, in the long run.

It should not be necessary to add that violence and vandalism only have the effect of closing the minds of the public to otherwise reasonable student demands. At the moment, revenge-by-student-power may seem sweet, but in the end, such students hurt only themselves.

It will be interesting to observe the colleges and other schools when today's demonstrators are old enough to be in charge. Taking the long-range look, will they be able, then, to bring about the changes they sit-in for today? Will our schools finally become places where all of the young can receive all the education they desire?

Or will today's "confrontationist" be barricaded in his office by the chanting class of 1998?

Marlboro, Rondout, Ontario Post UCAL Wins

Marlboro, Rondout and Ontario, picked up wins in the Ulster County Athletic Baseball League Friday. Marlboro defeated Wallkill, 9-8, in an extra-inning tilt at the winner's field, while Rondout took the measure of visiting Pine Bush, 3-1 and Ontario beat host Highland, 9-2.

John Mandia and Frank Salzano proved to be too much at the plate for Marlboro, as each went 3-for-5, with a homer apiece. Both boys struck in the three-run sixth inning for the winners. Mandia bombed a two-run shot and Salzano followed with a solo job.

Salzano also contributed a run-producing triple in the fifth stanza. Dale Sutton smacked two hits for the Dukes, as did Dan Pagano.

However, the Dukes needed a run in the bottom of the eighth to gain the win.

Dan Passante lead off with a single. He moved to second on a fielder's choice by Sutton. Salzano slapped a single up the middle, but Passante held at third. Vinnie Monti was the next batter and he delivered just what the doctor ordered, a long fly ball to left field, scoring Passante with the winning run.

Paul Ibsen went the distance for the winners, striking out 11, to pick up the win. Paul Mack got the loss, John Doski had two hits for the losers and Pete Lawson drove in two runs for Wallkill.

Ed Mercer drove in two runs for the winners, while Bill Mellett, Bob Lyes, Bob Ostrander chipped in with two hits apiece. Mellett scored three times and Lyes twice, Bob Mattice, Highland's fine first baseman, had a hit and scored twice for the losers.

New Paltz in First
The race for second tightened up quite a bit as a result of Friday's action. New Paltz remains in first place, undefeated, while Ontario, Highland, Rondout and Marlboro are tied for second. Wallkill brings up the rear.

Derby Favorites to Clash

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—The $155,700 Kentucky Derby came up for its 95th running at Churchill Downs today with eight 3-year-olds, the best field in years, poised to clash in America's greatest horse race.

The starters were split down the middle with Majestic Prince, Top Knight, Arts And Letters, and Dike grouped as the dangerous contenders in the first of the triple crown classics.

Fleet Allied, Traffic Mark, Ocean Roar and Rae Jet were shuffled off as rank outsiders with little chance of pulling off an upset in the 1 1/4 mile battle for a winner's purse of $113,200. Nor were any of them given much of a chance of grabbing one of the lesser awards of $25,000 for second, $12,500 for third and $5,000 for fourth, so outstanding was the demonstrated form of the "Big Four."

The usual crowd of "more than 100,000," headed by President Nixon, was expected at the ancient, twin-steeped race track to watch the drama unfold on a warm, pleasant afternoon and over a lightning fast track.

For days turf experts have tried to unravel the mystery as to the best horse in the field. And now the once-a-year racing fans, for whom the season opens and closes on Derby Day, gathered in the infield at the track and before television sets and radios to find answers to intriguing questions.

Can Frank McMahon's Majestic Prince, undefeated winner of seven straight races, carry his speed over the distance? Can Bill Hartack tie Eddie Aracado's record with a 5th victory aboard this favorite, now listed at 7-5 in the latest line?

Can second choice Top Knight, owned by Mrs. Steven B. Wilson, hold his Florida form and add the Kentucky Derby to earlier victories in the $100,000 added Flamingo Stakes and the $100,000 added Florida Derby. Manny Ycaza rides Top Knight who was the champion 2-year-old last season.

Arts and Letters
"Did the 15 length victory by Arts And Letters in the Blue Grass Stakes 10 days ago indicate the colt now had reached top form and would carry Braulio Baeza to a second victory in the race?"

And finally would Clairborne Farm's Dike be able to overtake the others with his tremendous stretch-run that carried him to victory by narrow margins in the Gotham Stakes and the Wood Memorial at Aqueduct. Jorge Velasquez will be at the throttle.

Top Knight was 9-5 with Arts And Letters at 4-1, now a third choice, and Dike at 5-1. The others were 20-1 and higher with Jockey Dean Hall on Fleet Allied, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Kanowsky and 41 "partners". All of them were at Churchill Downs and all of them expected to be in the winner's circle if Fleet Allied punctures the air of invincibility surrounding the "Big Four."

Stewart on "Roar"
Bob Stewart rides Ocean Roar, a well-bred son of Swaps who prepped for the Kentucky Derby at an unusual spot, Beulah Park at Grove City, Ohio. He is owned by Leo Miller, a former horse player recently turned horse owner.

Phil Grimm rides Rae Jet for Robert E. Harris, a Louisville attorney. (Rae Jet also entered for a six furlong allowance race that preceded the running of the Kentucky derby at 5:30 p.m. (EDT) and his owner may decide discretion is the better part of valor and start him there.

Carty Back in Action

(By United Press International)
The long wait is finally over for Rico Carty.

Carty, sidelined by an attack of tuberculosis and then a dislocated shoulder, finally made it to the plate in a regular season game Friday night for the first time in 19 months.

He showed he hasn't lost the touch as he hit a long sacrifice fly to tie the game and the Atlanta Braves then went on to defeat the Los Angeles Dodgers 7-4 on Orlando Cepeda's two-run double.

Carty, who missed the entire 1968 season with TB and then was sidelined this spring with a dislocated shoulder, came to the plate as a pinch-hitter for Pat Jarvis in the sixth inning with the bases loaded and the Braves trailing 4-3.

Carty Gets Ovation
He slugged a long sacrifice fly after receiving a thunderous ovation to tie the game 4-4.

"It made me nervous when I got that standing ovation but I felt all right once I fouled one off. I just told myself to concentrate on getting a hit—nothing else."

He added, "It's just a question of time now. I'm anxious to get back into the lineup. It was God's will that I should return to baseball. That's why I know my shoulder will soon be well, too."

Elsewhere in the National League, Pittsburgh topped Montreal 7-3, Philadelphia drubbed Montreal 7-2, Houston edged San Francisco 3-1, San Diego beat Cincinnati 8-5 and Chicago topped New York 6-4.

Meis Lose

Al Spangler hit a three-run homer and Ron Santo drove in two runs with a homer and a double to pace Chicago past New York. Santo's homer was his sixth of the season while Spangler's was his first. Ken Holtzman gained his third victory for the Cubs.

NAME Ron Cole
Baseball Coach

KINGSTON
Ronald Cole, highly successful coach of the Kingston High school Jayvee baseball team, was promoted to varsity at Thursday night's meeting of the Board of Education of Kingston Schools District Consolidated.

The appointment is effective for the 1970 season when Cole succeeds Mike Rienzo, who will relinquish his baseball duties to become basketball coach.

The board also appointed Gary Monger to the post of assistant Jayvee football coach.

Cole and Monger had been recommended by Superintendent Dr. W. Wendell Hoover and Athletic Director William J. Hurley.

Hawks Get Golf Wins

NEW PALTZ

New Paltz College's golf team scored a double victory at the Granit par-70 course Friday as the Hawks downed New York Maritime, 7-0 and Union College, 4-3. The doubleheader came as the result of a miscue in scheduling. New Paltz was not prepared to face Union, and had to send back to the school for an extra man.

The inconvenience became a welcome one later, as the Hawks took both matches. New Paltz is now 6-2 for the year, with fourth and fifth victories on Friday, adding to the string of five straight.

Jack Jordan was low man in the first round with Maritime, carding an 81. Jeff Berry took the honors in the Union tilt with a 79 for New Paltz.

The results: Jay Golden, New Paltz, 82; over Charles Ganor, 92.54; Mike Mantrasky, 81 over Doug Craddock, 96, 58.4; Jeff Berry, 79 over Dave Waldon, 93, 7.6; Bob Lipes, 83, over Paul Dailey, 99, 7.6; Jack Jordan, 81, over Jim Hammond, 98, 6.5; Dave Grant, 85 over Tom Donavan, 106, 9.8.

NEW PALTZ-323
MARITIME-379

Golden over Ward Blum, Union 48.3; Mantrasky over Bob Cummins, one up; Doug Vergith, Union, over Berry, 2.81; Rich Critchlow, Union, over Lipes, 58.4; Jordan, New Paltz, over George Gould, 2.81; Grant over Mike Harrington, one up; Lenny Palmer, Union, over Fred Kemper, 58.4.

Rosendale Outing Club Seeks State Ski Championship in '70

ROSENDALE, N.Y. — The Rosendale Outing Club officials are awaiting a favorable decision from the United States Eastern Amateur Ski Association in their bid to capture the New York State Ski Jump Championships from Bear Mountain next January.

The bid to have the state tournament transferred to Rosendale on Jan. 25, 1970, after many years at Bear Mountain, is one of two Rosendale proposals before the USEASA convention in Atlantic City this weekend.

The other would reaffirm the same dates as Rosendale and will adjust their schedule to accommodate the bigger hill competition here. But USEASA approval is required.

The Outing Club will again seek to have its tournaments the weekend after the Lake Placid Masters International Ski Jump and the John F. Kennedy Memorial International Games, with the idea of attracting some top foreign competitors as it did for the 1969 Hudson resort.

Bear Mountain officials have indicated they will not apply for the same dates as Rosendale and will adjust their schedule to accommodate the bigger hill competition here. But USEASA approval is required.

The Outing Club will again seek to have its tournaments the weekend after the Lake Placid Masters International Ski Jump and the John F. Kennedy Memorial International Games, with the idea of attracting some top foreign competitors as it did for the 1969 Hudson resort.

Three crack European jumpers, including an Olympic Gold Medalist, participated here last January.

According to tournament officials, however, it may be difficult to obtain the international talent, because 1970 is the world championship (F.I.S.) year.

The even years such as 1970 and 1974 are world championship years; the other even years (1968 and 1972) are Olympic years, when international travel is restricted because of national qualifying tournaments for the world competition.

The dates of Jan. 24-25 remain tentative, subject to final designation of dates for Lake Placid and also subject to any conflict with the New England college tournaments and winter carnivals.

Most of the outstanding talent in the eastern United States are developed by the New England colleges and universities. Any conflict with their schedule would limit the field of competition and be undesirable.

A Fairy Tale
Comes true in this dream of a home. Words cannot begin to describe the magnificence of each and every room. The reception hall is unique with its own chandelier, extra beams and its own fireplace.
A circular writing room, formal dining room, living room, unusual bathrooms, pantries and kitchen comprise the first floor. A curving staircase leads to a darling raised upstairs seat and a beautiful dining room on the second floor. Another 5 rooms and bath make up the third floor. One of the finest built homes in Kingston. It is fit for royalty in every sense of the word. Show only by appointment.

Dear Abby

'Hi! We Were Nearby..'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

(© 1969 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Every Sunday our mother serves dinner between 12:30 and 1:00. Recently, certain relatives have been coming to visit us at exactly that time. Before we know it, they have their coats off and they stand there. Naturally, Mom asks them to stay for dinner. They have six in their family and we have seven in ours. What kills us is that they know perfectly well that we have our Sunday dinner around that time. Abby, we are writing this for our Mom because she is such a sweet, kind-hearted person she wouldn't say anything to hurt her feelings, but feeding SIX extra people every Sunday is getting too much for her. Can you give us a solution?

MOM'S KIDS

DEAR KIDS: Sitting down at a table for 13 every Sunday, especially when preparations have been made for only seven, can be pretty unlucky for the hostess. But if she's too timid to speak up, there's nothing you can do. (P.S. After a while these "unexpected" guests become expected.)

DEAR ABBY: Why are so many educated, well-bred, people so sloppy about R.S.V.P. invitations?

Several of my friends have gotten married recently, and beautiful engraved "R.S.V.P." invitations were sent, and the number of responses they received was pathetic!

One of the girls had 296 acceptances, and over 400 guests showed up! (She assumed that those who didn't respond were not coming.)

Another friend of mine had to make over 100 telephone calls to find out who were planning to attend.

I simply cannot understand why people will not take a few minutes to write a short note or make a telephone call. Please print this. I have a feeling I am not alone. APPALLED

DEAR APPALLED: You are not alone. Those who ignore R.S.V.P. invitations are lazy, disorganized, thoughtless or careless.

DEAR ABBY: Someone gave me this little piece, which I think is just about the most beautiful thing I have ever read. She said you wrote it. Did you?

"FLYING FOR WESTERN"

DEAR FLYING: No. But I wish I had. I shall publish it with the hope that if anyone in my reading audience knows the author he will share it with me.

"Woman was created from the rib of man."

She was not made from his head to top him. Nor out of his feet to be trampled upon.

But out of his side, to be equal to him. Under his arm, to be protected. And near his heart, to be loved."

CONFIDENTIAL TO F. L. LAKE CHARLES, LA.: Your biggest problem, Madame, is that you've never had a really BIG problem. There is nothing like a toothache to make you forget about your mosquito bites.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

(Hear Dear Abby Mon. thru Sat. at 10:30 a.m. WKNY-1490)

Opening lead—♣ A

South looked over dummy and could count only eight tricks. It would require some sort of miracle to find a ninth but there were plenty of possibilities and South was not inclined to give up.

He let East hold the first trick with the jack of hearts to see what would happen. East shifted to a spade and South played low. For all he knew, East might have led away from the queen. West produced the queen and returned the suit.

The best South could do was play some clubs and he led four rounds, winning the last one in dummy. East discarded two diamonds, a spade and a heart.

Now South led dummy's last heart. East put up the queen, which was allowed to hold the trick. Then he led his last spade. South won and cashed his last club. West discarded his jack of diamonds and East had to blank his king in order to hang on to two hearts.

At this point South led his singleton diamond. West, who had been playing along mechanically, played the five spot. East had to win with the king and lead a heart to give South the last two tricks with the ace and 10.

West made a very bad play when he failed to rise with his ace of diamonds and set declarer by cashing his last spade, but we have to give a lot of blame to East.

There is a well-known principle of bridge that when you give a player a chance to make a mistake, he may do so. East had two ways to save his partner.

The first by playing a diamond when he was in with the queen of hearts. The defense would promptly cash two diamond tricks to set the hand. The other was for East to discard his king of diamonds on that fifth club. In that case, West would surely have taken his ace.

Horoscope By SIDNEY OMARR

It's In The Stars

("The wise man controls his destiny . . . astrology points the way.")

Forecast for Sunday May 4, 1969

GENERAL INDICATIONS: Avoid excess speed. Accident rate today apt to be higher than usual. Outdoor sports favored. But horseplay could result in mishaps. Many people today subject to falls. Don't be one of them!

ARIES (March 21-April 19): In any journey, be cautious. Mars and moon conjoin in area associated with your travels. If careless, you invite accident. Day is excellent for acting on inspiration. Get ideas on paper.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): If mate or partner is in mood to argue, be a good listener. Rise above petty annoyances. Day to display maturity. If understanding, you gain emotionally and financially.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Some agreements could be broken. Others activated. Don't permit yourself to be depressed. You are going to make healthy, new contact. Avoid stupid argument.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Some details could multiply. Get basic chores out of way early. Later, be with those seeking spiritual guidance. Gain indicated in unusual manner.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Be diplomatic in dealing with children. Some around you are impulsive, argumentative. Forces are scattered. In trying to reach destination, observe rules. Be safe, not sorry.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Don't rush. Some apparent minor points could become major. Know this and take your time. Key is to be thorough under pressure. Older individual loses temper. Don't compound error.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): You move about; what appeared settled is reactivated. Disputes could arise with close relatives. Key is to agree to reasonable changes. Avoid carelessness in transit.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Guard possessions. Be sure you know what really is needed. Family member offers sage advice. Follow it, for your own good.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Avoid actions based solely on impulse. Give logic equal time. Emphasis on new projects. Excitement of discovery is featured. You are stimulated.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): You receive information which strengthens basic position. Authorities are on your side. Know this and act with confidence. Much occurs behind the scenes.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Aggressive friend may cause you to change plans. Be ready. Finish a project and be ready to encounter new challenge. Special relationship may be under strain.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Ambitions come to fore. You get action on career level. Advancement indicated if alert to opportunities. Highlight original approach. You attract special person.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are an individual who accomplishes. But you must first outline goals. Recent delays have upset you. But now there is more activity and greater social life. You can make contacts which will enrich your life.

Forecast for Monday, May 5, 1969

COOKING FOR TONIGHT: Saturn Baked Potatoes. Allow a large russet potato for each serving. Bake in hot oven until mealy. Cut potatoes in half. Spoon out meat, leaving shell intact. Blend meat with sour cream to moisten. Season with celery salt, freshly ground black pepper, parmesan cheese, crisp bacon bits and chives. Return mixture to potato shells and garnish with strips of processed cheddar cheese. Bake for 30 min. in 400-deg. oven. Then you'll be cooking with astrology!

ARIES (March 21 - April 19): Accent on professional advancement. Be wary of unusual agreements. Contracts should be viewed with eye on small print. Gain indicated if you take long-range view.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20): Basic issues can be settled to general satisfaction. Fresh viewpoint is a requisite. Some close to you break habit patterns. Be open-minded. Your interests won't be overlooked.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20): A secret meeting today could affect financial situation. Be receptive. But see beyond immediate indications. Dig beneath the surface. Profit is available. Go after it.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22): Accent on security. Some agreements are subject to revision — may be critical period for marriage, partnerships. Utilize sense of humor. Be versatile. Alternative methods necessary.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22): Basic issues need attention. You can break through red tape if persistent. Day could feature concrete results. Accent on work and health. Surprise due in connection with relative.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22): Avoid extravagance. Be ready for changes. Spend for quality gift. Loved one deserves special consideration. Promise made to child should be fulfilled. Exciting and productive day.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22): Sudden changes, attention from public indicated. You get surprise gift. You are paid meaningful compliment. Spotlight on your home and family. Someone close has exciting plans.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21): What occurs is subtle. You don't seem able to pin down elusive trends. Accent on ideas, trips, messages. Avoid fooling yourself. See persons, situations in practical light.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21): Eccentric actions on part of friends provide amusement, but could be costly. Know where you are going and stick to course. Changing now would be error and result in loss.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19): You are able to ride with tide. Some possessions, including stocks, could experience merry-go-round action. Take long-range view. Don't panic. You can be a winner if cool.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18): Whatever you do, do it softly. Means be discreet. Someone lets cat out of the bag about your activities. You may be confronted with accusation. Be calm and diplomatic.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - March 20): Check budget, assets and deficits. Don't embark upon journey without knowing what it will cost. Bit of caution can result in dividends. Avoid acting on impulse.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are intuitive, attractive to opposite sex, fond of travel. If single, marriage could occur this year. Married or single, business advance and rewards are indicated.

CBS for Fall--A Question

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The big question on CBS-TV's new fall schedule will be how Leslie Uggams' variety hour fills the gap left on Sunday nights by the fired Smothers Brothers.

The brothers offered the first CBS-TV series ever to compete successfully, head-on, with NBC-TV's highly ranked "Bonanza," although their ratings fell off this past season.

There will, for instance, be a weekly drama hour with the self-explanatory title "Medical Center." Set basically in a university medical center, it stars James Daly and Chad Everett.

There will be, in addition, an hour musical-variety series starring "Gomer Pyle" this season.

There will be a half-hour situation comedy, "The Governor and J. J.," about the widowed chief executive of a state (Dan Dailey) and his unmarried daughter (Julie Sommers), who lives with him in the governor's mansion.

There will be another half-hour situation comedy, "When in Rome," about an American professor (John Forsythe) and his three daughters who settle down in the Italian city when he lands a teaching position there.

And there will be "Get Smart," yet another half-hour situation comedy, which CBS-TV took on after NBC-TV canceled it.

Eliminated from next season's CBS-TV schedule, in Jackie Gleason, "My Three Sons," "Green Acres," "Petticoat Junction," "Mannix," Ed Sullivan, "Mission: Impossible," "The Wild, Wild West," "Gomer Pyle" and "Gentle Ben."

Returning are "Gunsmoke," "Here's Lucy," "Mayberry R.F.D.," Doris Day's situation comedy, the Carol Burnett Show, Red Skelton, "Lancer," the CBS news hour, Glen Campbell, "The Beverly Hillbillies" and "Hawaii Five-O."

Also: "Family Affair," "The Good Guys," "Hogan's Heroes," "The CBS Evening News," "My Three Sons," "Green Acres," "Petticoat Junction," "Mannix," Ed Sullivan, "Mission: Impossible," "The Wild, Wild West," "Gomer Pyle" and "Gentle Ben."

Over at NBC-TV, meanwhile, a spokesman says there has been a slight change in format in Bill Cosby's new, fall, half-hour series. The network previously announced he would play "a big city high school gym teacher and assistant coach who moonlights—principally as a private investigator—to make ends meet." Now NBC-TV says he won't moonlight at all, and will be strictly a physical education teacher.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

A boysenberry is a hybrid plant originating in California and used in preserves, jams and pies. The World Almanac says. The tart, red-purple boysenberry was developed in the 1920s on the farm of Rudolph Boysen, probably from a crossing of loganberry, raspberry and blackberry.

Police Commissioners - - The More the Merrier

By HUGH REYNOLDS
Freeman City Hall Reporter

ITEM: Mayor asks Council for six-member police commission.

A very clever fellow, that mayor of ours. It looked like Houdini was caught in a bind. It seems there was a vacancy on the police board (Johnny Knapp's term expired on May 1) and the executive board of the NAACP thought it would be nice to have a Negro on the board.

Ray might have thought it was a good idea too, but there was no way to keep Johnny (Knapp had done a good job and rated another four-year term) and put anybody else on the board.

Decisions. Decisions. Two people cannot fill the same vacancy. Vacancy. Vacancy. Two vacancies! Two people could fill two vacancies and everybody's happy.

We're very happy that a "qualified" Negro will now serve on the board of police commissioners.

He may get lost in the shuffle but one has to take one's opportunities as they arise.

* * *

DEMOCRATS ARE wondering what Ed Norton was hoping to prove by lighting a fire under those 12th warders at the public hearing last week on the 51 per cent proposal. Ed got the ball rolling by inquiring as to the legality of the hearing.

That was good for openers. What followed has been aired at various other meetings and hardly bears repeating. One thing is certain, Buddy Lyle, who's running for county legislator, won't get many votes from the Fairview-Merritt Avenue section of the city.

The Conservatives deal for an alderman-at-large on the Republican ticket fell through which may have set the standard for the party this year—run your own candidate.

We've heard of a few endorsements here and there, namely Pete Mancuso and Gippy Sinsabaugh on the Democratic side and Bernie Sims on the GOP side. The Conservative endorsement should be just icing on the cake for Sinsabaugh and Mancuso but it could put Sims over the top. It was the Conservative candidate who made the difference last year in the race between Sims and Jim Madden.

* * *

GOP MAYORAL CANDIDATES—Rumors are afloat that the Republicans have come up with someone besides Jim Tyrrell, John Mayone or Cliff Bunting. The question asked us was "who is supporting this fourth guy?" the reasoning being that most Republicans must be committed to one of the three by now.

The fourth candidate, who won't be making a definite statement until early next week, had better make up his mind in a hurry. He's got time against him; the deadline for submitting petitions is only 10 days off.

And he can bet that Tyrrell and Mayone are rounding up every Republican signature they can for a show of strength. An enrolled party member can only sign one petition for any particular office.

There's also the fact that alderman-at-large candidates are in short supply on the Republican side. Mayone has reportedly learned this and will run with Burton Davis, the party's nominee at the March 24 convention.

The fourth "candidate" took us into his confidence so we won't reveal his name, but we will give a hint. He's a heavy favorite to beat anybody if he wants to run.

4,604 Attend Expo, Exhibits Are Judged

KINGSTON — Attendance at the Kingston Lions Club Exposition in the State Armory Friday night brought the total since Tuesday's opening to almost 15,000. A total of 4,604 entered the Expo Friday, bringing the total up to 14,867 since the show opened on Tuesday.

Tonight is the last session of the 22nd annual show and officials expect even more records to be set as the public views the display of Hudson Valley products and Ulster County businesses.

On tap this evening is the grand drawing scheduled for 10:30 p. m.

Results in Friday night's judging of exhibits by Kenneth Downer, Woodstock artist; Peter Barrecchia, Freeman Managing Editor; and John Warren, public relations specialist, were announced by the Lions. The judges were escorted by Frank Simpson, Lions' 3rd vice president.

In the professional category, International Business Machines was awarded for public appeal; Cliff Scholl Accordion Studio for entertainment value and New York Telephone Company for imagination.

In the non-professional area, the Ulster County Sheriff's exhibit was awarded for its general interest and appeal; the 4-H Club booth was cited for originality and interest with his calligraphic display.

10 Kingston Teachers Resign; School Board Appoints 27

KINGSTON — Twenty-seven teachers were appointed, the resignations of 10 others were accepted and salaries of four professional employees of the Kingston School District Consolidated were adjusted Thursday night at a meeting of the Board of Education.

Appointed as elementary teachers on probationary basis on recommendation of Supt. of Schools W. Wendell Hoover were:

Miss Florence Chan, Miss Nancy A. Demski, Miss Susan Marie Des Jardin, Miss Sharon Holmquist, Mrs. Paula Jaeger, Miss Marilyn McNamara, Wayne Mengel, Bernard R. Michaud, Miss Diane Moore, Donald F. Reed, Mrs. Virginia E. Uhl and Miss Marilyn Wittenberg.

Miss Jane A. Bruck was appointed a business education teacher, and Miss Cathy P. Corsones was appointed a social studies teacher. Miss Donna M. Eastman was named an elementary vocal music teacher.

Other appointments approved were:

Vincent Gallagher Jr., science teacher; Miss Mona K. Gaughan, elementary physical education; Miss Lillian Joy Geida, elementary vocal music; Mrs. Judith M. Glasel, elementary instrumental music; Mrs. Genevieve A. Jansen, English; Mrs. Khethe L. Mallanda, Dean Short and Miss R. Marie Stewart, elementary physical education teachers; Miss Karen Marchetti, special education teacher; Miss Suzanne M. Swenski, mathematics; Benjamin Trapani 3rd, elementary physical education; Michael F. Tronolone, Science teacher.

Resignations

Resignations were accepted from Richard S. Boduch, Spencer Brown, Judith Folland, Paul Gruner, Marieann Hancke, Ann Annette Kueck, Lenore G. Kul-seng, Mary Jean (Macri) Lambiase, Dana Pasquale and Ann J. Vree.

Salary increases were approved for four teachers who submitted evidence of having satisfactorily completed graduate work. They are, Carmela

De Camillis, Helen Martin, Ann S. Miuccio and Dorothy P. Palen.

The resignation of Mrs. Ida Gerald as a full-time substitute was accepted with a provision that her name be retained on the regular substitute list.

Maternity leaves of absence effective June 30 were granted Mrs. Janet B. Hannis and Mrs. Laura Weitzner.

Because no comparative bids were received for alterations for new gas and oil burning facilities at the Sophie G. Finn School, the board rejected the bid of Lomasney Combustion, Inc. of Poughkeepsie. The school architect, Harry Halverson & Associates, was authorized to rebid for the project.

Repairs Underway

Dr. Hoover reported to the Board that repairs are underway to correct a leak in the water mains leading to Sophie Finn School. He said it had been difficult to locate the break which permitted water to cause some flooding on the athletic field.

A resolution to hire the Marine Midland Trust Company of Western New York to act as financial advisers to handle the sale and advertisement of bonds of approximately $1,400,000 to $1,500,000 for the new Rifton Elementary School, was approved. The fee is not to exceed $2,500. The bank will advise Ira M. Shaw, associate superintendent for business management on the preparation of the maturity schedule for the bonds and consult with him regarding the timing of the bond sale.

The firm of Sykes, Galloway and Dikeman will be engaged as bonding attorneys for the issue.

During the Thursday night meeting, Mrs. Evelyn Corsones, chairman of the board's public relations committee, welcomed a group of members of the Junior League, and invited them to attend school board meetings on a regular basis. The delegation was headed by Mrs. Thomas Reynolds, chairman.

12 Marines Killed in Crash

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. tanks, planes and artillery killed 28 Communists in a four-hour battle northwest of Saigon, U.S. military spokesmen said today. Two helicopters collided far to the north, killing 12 U.S. Marines.

Military spokesmen disclosed that Communist gunfire shot down two Navy helicopters near Cambodia and both crashed on the Cambodian side, killing four Americans.

The incident occurred last Monday 44 miles west of Saigon but was not announced until Friday by the State Department and today in Saigon.

It was the first time the U.S. command had reported loss of any helicopters in Cambodia, which borders South Vietnam on the north and west. Cambodian frontiers serve as a base for Communist troops.

Two Americans were killed and one wounded when their Army light observation helicopter was shot down 327 miles northeast of Saigon.

U.S. spokesmen said the 94th "significant" incident in the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) since the Nov. 1, 1968 bombing halt occurred Friday five miles north of Gio Linh on the south bank of the Ben Hai River which divides the six-mile-wide DMZ.

U.S. Marine artillery blasted the DMZ after Communist troops were sighted near a bunker complex. The Marine guns destroyed four bunkers and killed two Communists.

Communist gunners overnight shelled three district towns 52 miles northwest of Saigon, 420 miles north of the capital and in the northern province of Quang

Ngai. There were no casualties. Communists ambushed a U.S. 25th Infantry Division convoy near Saigon, killing two GIs and wounding 11 before planes and tanks drove off the attackers.

Action in DMZ

U.S. spokesmen said a CH46 "Sea Knight" helicopter carrying Marines collided with a smaller Army UH1 "Huey" helicopter over an airstrip 22 miles west of Dong Ha 400 miles northeast of Saigon.

The smaller Army craft crashed without casualties, spokesmen said.

They said a unit of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division attacked a Communist force 30 miles northwest of Saigon Friday. Twenty-eight Communists died and five American were wounded in a four-hour battle, in which the Allies called in air strikes, helicopter gunships and artillery support.

More armored units reinforced the Americans later. The battle, near Go Dau Ha, lasted until dusk.

Red Ambush

Communist troops ambushed a U.S. 1st Infantry Division convoy 50 miles north of Saigon. U.S. spokesmen said the Communists were hiding along Highway 13 near An Loc.

Tanks and armored personnel carriers escorting the Americans fired into the jungle while fighter-bombers and helicopter gunships roared in to kill 11 Communists.

The ambush, however, left two Americans dead and 11 wounded spokesmen said.

U.S. commanders renewed drives on the area between Saigon and the Cambodian border, where intelligence reports said thousands of North Vietnamese troops were hiding.

One U.S. unit seized 15 tons of rice in the area Friday. Two U.S. B52 bomber missions blasted scattered areas of the region Friday night.

Vol Hurt, Truck Demolished; Several Injured in Area

BY WALTER S. CLARK

COXSACKIE

While driving a fire truck to the scene of a minor grass fire at 2:45 p. m. Friday, Fred P. Hinrichsen, 50, of the Earlton Volunteer Fire Department, was injured when the vehicle went out of control and overturned at the intersection of Route 81 and Honey Hollow Road. The truck was demolished.

Hinrichsen was taken to Greene County Memorial Hospital in Catskill. He suffered scalp lacerations and multiple contusions and abrasions, according to Leeds Trooper D. G. McPhail. Hinrichsen was turning off the main highway when the brakes of the fire apparatus seized causing the truck to hit a sign post and overturn in a ditch against a culvert.

Several highway accidents were investigated by authorities in Ulster County in the last 24 hours.

Alfred J. Perry, 17, of 60 South Washington Avenue, Kingston, was injured at 1 a. m. today when his car went out of control and overturned off Route 209 in the Town of Ulster. He was taken to Benedictine Hospital by Doctor's Ambulance. Deputy Sheriffs Steve Wardynski and Thomas Cook reported Perry was traveling along the highway when an unidentified vehicle forced his car off the pavement and rolled over. Perry sustained lacerations of the head that required three sutures and bruises and contusion.

Ask Citizen Crusade Against Pornography

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's call for a "citizens' crusade against the obscene" and new laws to battle smut in the mails has some ready supporters in Congress where two members already have compiled graphic evidence of the problem.

Reps. Richard H. Ichord, D. Mo., and Glen Cunningham, R. Neb., have assembled files which demonstrate what the President was talking about Friday when he proposed steps to block mail which is "unsolicited, unwanted and deeply offensive to those who receive it."

The congressmen have an array of pornography literature forwarded to them by irate constituents who want such material kept out of the mails and out of the hands of the young.

"I've been around and I'm not easily shocked, but this stuff is terrible," Ichord said of the examples he received.

Nixon said Friday his administration will send three proposals to Congress shortly which would:

— "Make it a federal crime to use the mails or other facilities of commerce to deliver to anyone under 18 years of age material dealing with a sexual subject in a manner unsuitable for

Perry was cited for driving a car without a license.

Two men were injured and taken to Vassar Hospital after a collision of their cars on 3:40 a. m. today. State Police at Highland identified the drivers as Felice DeFelice, 49, of 48 Brescia Boulevard, Highland, and Gordon Aldrich, 29, of Milton.

Trooper G. G. Henne's report noted that DeFelice sustained fractured ribs and lacerations of the left leg and arm. Aldrich received scalp and facial lacerations. Investigation of the mishap is continuing, authorities said.

Kingston State Police reported that William Lane, 25, of 765 Broadway, Kingston, was driving his car along Route 212 east of Mink Hollow Road near Lake Hill at 8 p. m. Friday, when a deer leaped from the side of the highway into the path of his car. Lane swerved his vehicle and avoided hitting the deer, but the car crossed the highway to the east lane and crashed into a rock cut. The driver sustained a laceration over his right eye, according to a report of Trooper R. S. Kuchesky.

Black Demand on Churches — $500 Million in 'Reparations'

NEW YORK (AP) — Top leaders of major American Protestant churches listened in bewildered silence Friday as a "black manifesto" was presented to them, demanding $500 million in reparations to Negroes.

At the same time, the manifesto's spokesman indicated there will be no immediate attempts to carry out the document's call for widespread disruption of church agencies to force compliance with the demands.

"We're in a stage of negotiations that will defer the intensity of further actions," said James Forman, who engineered passage of the manifesto last weekend at a National Black Economic Development Conference in Detroit.

But he declined to say how long the threatened disruptive tactics would be postponed, and said it was possible blacks in some localities might stage limited demonstrations beginning next week.

Some of the churchmen at the national gathering before which he appeared indicated they were sympathetic to the grievances expressed, but puzzled at why religious institutions were singled out for the financial demands.

"Shocked" is the way their reaction was described by the Rev. Charles S. Spivey, head of the department of social justice of the National Council of Churches. "They were a little uptight."

The occasion was a session of the policy-making general board of the National Council of Churches. The 250-member board includes leading officials of 34 denominations, with a total membership of more than 40 million.

"We're not begging," Forman told them. "We have a right to demand."

He said white Christians were the financial beneficiaries of economic exploitation of black slave labor in the past that created American wealth, and that blacks were entitled to reimbursement for it.

Full Week's TV Listing From May 4 Thru May 10

From Brahms to Don Quixote

Pianist Paul Badura-Skoda will appear with the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Orchestra in a Subscription Series concert Monday, May 5 at Kingston Community Theater. The concert will start at 3:30 p. m.

Badura-Skoda will be guest soloist with the orchestra in a performance of the Brahms First Piano Concerto in D Major, opus 15. The program will also feature the world premiere of Sinfonia Filofonica by Robert Middleton and the Don Quixote Suite by Telemann. The orchestra will be under the direction of Claude Monteux.

Praised as an aristocrat among pianists, Badura-Skoda is especially renowned as an interpreter of Mozart, Beethoven, Schubert and Chopin, although his repertoire is practically without limits. "To me music is not just an isolated art but an integral part of human life," he says.

Major Festival Performer

A native of Vienna, he took his first piano lessons at the age of six. Since his debut in 1948 at the age of 21, he has been soloist with most of the world's leading orchestra and has played at every major European music festival. He has made extensive tours of Europe and the United States and has also appeared in South America, Australia, Asia and Africa.

In spite of his active concertizing, Badura-Skoda has also found time to conduct and teach. He has led numerous performances of 18th-century concerti from the keyboard and has held master classes during the Salzburg, Vienna, Edinburgh and Stanford Festivals.

Tickets for the concert will be available at the door.

PAUL BADURA-SKODA, PIANIST

It's REALLY Mad!

"Mad Christopher, Mad" promises to be an unusual production and a unique play. Its action takes place in a nondescript time and place, and its plot line concerns one man's lone battle with society.

In addition, when it is performed five days next week at New Paltz, it will be the first time that American audiences will have seen a U.S. performance of the Martins Ziverts' drama.

"Mad Christopher, Mad," has been translated and will be produced by Dr. Alfreds Straumanis, associate professor of theatre arts at New Paltz's State University College. His version will be presented in the McKenna Theater on campus by the New Paltz Players as their third major production of the current season. Performances of "Mad" will be presented Wednesday through Saturday evenings, May 7 through 10 at 8:30 p. m., and Sunday, May 11 at 2:30 p. m.

Top Award Winners

The critically acclaimed Players recently returned from Corning where they took first prize in the New York State Theatre Festival for their performance of Moliere's "The Miser," as directed by Dr. Charles Scott.

Adding to the unusual appeal of "Mad" will be the set, designed in keeping with the play's rare concepts by Raymond T. Kurdt, college theatre designer. It's a set aimed at aiding in the experience of a multi-media production. Projections and a sound track—created by Dr. Gundaris Pone—will form a major portion of this largely technical show. Dr. Pone, associate professor of music at New Paltz, is a prolific composer of modern music who has seen his works performed in major cultural centers in the U.S. and Europe.

Tickets for "Mad Christopher, Mad" are now on sale from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily at the college box office. Phone reservations may also be made.

"MAD CHRISTOPHER, MAD" cast looks like refugees from something or other as they pose through a discarded auto tire, which perhaps has some symbolism. Actors (L-R) are Richard Courtney, Alan Byrne, Richard Casselman (seated), Barbara Moring and Jerry Schneyer. The unusual play will be presented by the New Paltz Players at the State University College's McKenna Theater in New Paltz May 7-10 at 8:30 p.m. and May 11 at 2:30 p.m.

Demonstration of Landscape Art

His live demonstration of oil painting last season was such a solid hit with the audience that requests have been pouring in ever since for another such artist-at-work talk. And so the Ulster County Art Association will bring back well known Woodstock artist Richard Jeffery to lecture before its membership and the general public.

The Jeffery demonstration will take place in Britt's Community Room on Tuesday, May 6 at 7 p. m.

Jeffery's appearance before the UCAA last October was one of the highlights of that season, and next week's performance is expected to be one of the highlights of this spring. He'll complete an entire landscape on the spot; with skill and humor impart a vast amount of knowledge on art to his audience.

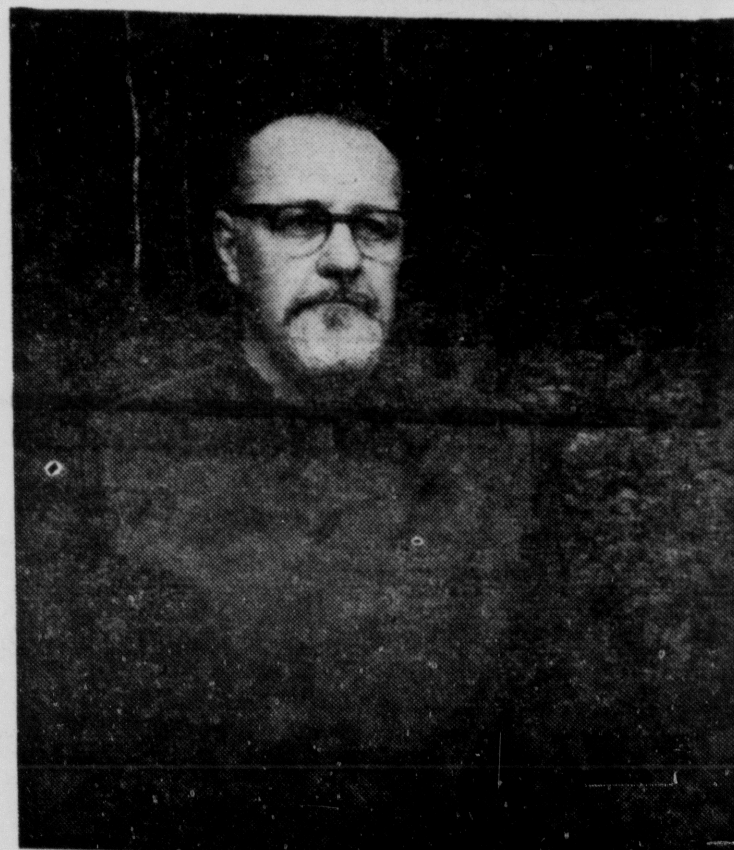

A Prolific Painter

A prolific painter of marine and coastal subjects and local landscapes, Jeffery is also noted for his still life work. A long time resident of Woodstock, he maintains both a studio and gallery in Bearsville; will shortly open another gallery in the heart of the village on Tinker Street. Oil painting is his favorite media, but he is adept in others and, if his primary style is realistic, he has also produced abstracts and semi-abstracts.

A graduate of Syracuse University, where he received a full tuition scholarship and many painting awards (including the Tiffany fellowship), he served in the Air Force during World War II before settling in Woodstock and in the adult education program in Kingston.

His work has been exhibited locally, in New York City and in New England. Art collectors in the U.S., Europe and Central America own his paintings, as do many business establishments.

The event (seemingly not to be missed) is open to the public and further information is available by calling 331-1141.

ARTIST RICHARD JEFFERY

Overlook Generates Its Own Mythology

17—THE KINGSTON DAILY FREEMAN, MAY 3, 1969

THE GLASS PANES have long since disappeared from the windows and the roof has long since fallen in, but the sturdy walls and decorative columns of the Overlook Mountain House have managed to weather the years and the elements. (TEMPO cover pictures and all other photos by Freeman photographer Robert Haines)

Only the totally intrepid, the very young, the non-smoker and the dedicated nature lover seek out the Overlook Mountain House in this age of the automobile and airplane. For those with the fortitude, however (and Freeman photographer Bob Haines will now have to be classified as one such), a hike to the top of Woodstock's tallest Catskill peak is worth every scratch and sore muscle picked up along the way.

For near the top, shrouded by clouds and hemmed in by neighboring hills and valleys stands the crumbling but awesome remains of what was to have been the most elegant and luxurious hostelry in Ulster County. And above this graveyard of stone and metal is a fire tower from whose windows one can see the most breathtaking of views. Indeed, this very spot was glorified in James Fenimore Cooper's fabled "Leatherstocking Tales" as a retreat from civilization which offered a "view of all creation."

Following in the footsteps of Cooper's hero, whose adventures were set in the Revolutionary War period, are the hikers and Boy Scouts of today, whose destination these warm spring days is frequently the fire tower and abandoned hotel. The hotel, eerie, ghostly and ruined, has become something of a mystery house. It is historically certain, however, that it was the third of a series of hostelries known as the Overlook Mountain House.

The first, a rambling, imposing and sky-high architectural achievement, inspired by the French style of the day and boasting a mansard roof, had been designed by Benjamin Van Wagenen, a Kingston architect of the time. It opened in 1871; burned to the ground on April Fool's Day in 1875—but not before it had entertained such noted celebrities as President Ulysses S. Grant and soon-to-be President Chester Arthur among its array of famous guests.

The second mountain house, as rebuilt in 1878, suffered the same fate as its predecessor; fell victim to flames around 1924.

MASSIVE AND STILL BEAUTIFUL are the hotel's marble columns. Old timers insist the columns came from New York's Waldorf Astoria Hotel when the Woodstock hotel began abuilding in the mid-1920s.

ONCE ELEGANT STAIRCASE inside ravaged mountain house is little more than a crumbling ruin surrounded by junk and refuse today

GIGANTIC STONE FIREPLACE inside mountain house is practically intact after more than 40 years. Intended to be the centerpiece around which guests would gather, the only fires it has ever known were those built by hikers and campers.

A Special for Pearl

Pearl Bailey has signed with ABC for a starring special which probably will be aired next fall. The star of Broadway's "Hello, Dolly!" was a big hit when she appeared recently on Carol Channing's ABC special.

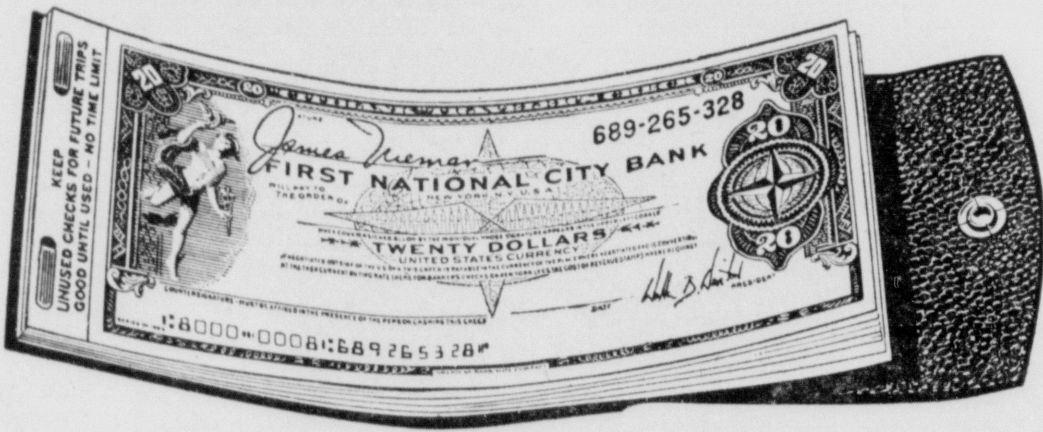

Goldiggers Back

"Deam Martin Presents the Goldiggers," summer replacement series for Martin's regular NBC program, will begin July 17 instead of July 10, as announced earlier. There will be nine instead of 10 of these shows.

Holidays on Parade

Be advised that if you wish to plan your float for exposure when NBC and CBS telecast the Tournament of Roses parade in Pasadena, Calif., next Jan. 1, it should fit the theme of "Holidays Around the World."

Overlook Generates

But with its bowling, alley, fabled view and white jacketed Negro waiters, it had become one of the most popular vacation and holiday spots in the U.S. before its demise.

In the mid-1920's a man named Morris Newgold began building the third Overlook Mountain House. Elegant, luxurious, carpeted and—so the legend goes—completely furnished down to the last chair and bathtub—it never opened.

Bill Newgold, a relative of Morris, still hosts summer antique shows in Wodstock's Old Colony Hotel, but shuns conversation about the fate of the mountain house. Over the years, it has generated its own mythology, and the rumors and legend as to why its doors remained forever closed have become so embellished with time that fact can no longer be separated from fiction.

Suffice it to say that vandals, the elements and time have reduced what could have been the Waldorf of the Catskills to a crumbling but still intriguing ruin.

Rumors are now rife that the present owners are seeking to dynamite to the ground what remains of this relic of past pre-Depression grandeur. Whether they will indeed be able to do sometime this year or at a later date remains to be seen, since it would be a costly process.

In the meantime, if you're of a mind, hike on up and take a look. Even the weak-kneed and weak-lunged can make it with a little stamina since a broad, modern day highway takes you only a few miles from the top, and a dirt road, traveled daily by jeep-riding Conservation Department men who man the fire tower, offers fairly easy climbing the rest of the way.

There'll Be Guitar Pickin' and Folk Singing Aplenty

Folk song performers from up and down the Hudson Valley will be strumming and humming away in the first Mid-Hudson Folk Festival set for this Sunday (May 4) on the Middletown campus of Orange County Community College.

Singers and instrumentalists, as soloists and in groups, will be on hand for the gala Open Sing, one of the major events of the all-day festival program which has been inked in on the schedule for 3 p. m.

Highlighting the festivities will be Scotsman Norman Kennedy, a veteran Newport Folk Festival performer and the oft-times spinner-songster at Colonial Williamsburg. Sharing top billing with Kennedy will be Lou Killen, coffin maker-turned-founder of England's most illustrious folk club. They'll both head the festival's featured evening concert at 7:30 p. m.

Children's Concert

The festival opens at 1 p. m. Sunday with a children's concert, handled by Caroline Paton, Folk-Legacy Records recording star. Eight professional folksingers, including Britain's Killen and Scotland's Kennedy, will perform for the youngsters and their parents.

At 3 p. m., a series of workshops in ballads, ballad-making, tale-telling and plucked instruments will be held simultaneously with the Open Sing. Attorney Samuel Eager Jr., of Middletown, whose hobby is folksinging, will be MC for the Sing, featuring vocal groups and individual performers. Among those who'll be retelling the Catskill tales in word and song, in addition to the aforementioned Kennedy and Killen will be:

Sara Cleveland, who learned her repertoire of "old traditional" songs from her Irish mother; Sandy and Caroline Paton, dynamic husband-and-wife team; Grant Rogers, a fiddler since the age of seven and a fine musician-composer some 50 years later; Lawrence Older, a woodsman-singer who has collected old family songs; and Dan Smith, a North Carolinian harmonica player and singer who brought his Southern religious songs north when he recently migrated to New York.

All Together Now

Bringing together the folksongs and folk tradition of the Hudson Valley will be the task of the various masters of ceremonies. In addition to attorney Eager, workshop sessions at 3 p. m. will be handled by OCCC student Warren Sabloff for ballads; festival chairman Dr. Walter Gard of the OCCC physical sciences faculty, for tale-telling; and folk guitar instructor Mrs. Ruth Goldin, of Ellenville, for plucked instruments. The big evening concert, featured performance of the day which will feature all professional artists attending, will have Sandy Paton, collector and singer of traditional music and record company executive, as master of ceremonies.

All events will take place on the OCCC campus in Middletown and admission is within everyone's financial reach. Children under 12 are welcome free and all others need pay only $1.

Television

If you wondered about that incipient Van Dyke Harry Belafonte sported on the Tony Awards show, it's because of a movie he's making in New York, "The Angel Levine." Film takes place in a period of 25 hours and he's supposed to have a stubble of beard. It took him over 10 days to grow what you saw on TV and, from where we sat, it didn't look like anything, except maybe that the great folksinger seemed to need a shave.

Alan King, who hosted the Tony Awards, shared a small dressing room at the theater with Sir Laurence Olivier, Rex Harrison, Jerry Orbach, Belafonte, Arthur Miller and Zero Mostel. They all had lots of visitors, said King, and added: "It was a billion Dollar Dressing Room but you should have seen everyone trying to get to the mirror."

There'll be a new character introduced in Julia next season. Dr. Chegley's uncle will come out of retirement to run the clinic when Chegley is away. Lloyd Nolan will play both parts. The uncle, Norton Chegley, is 92 years old; a very able physician, but a man prone to falling down a lot.

Gower Champion, who directed the Academy Awards show for TV, says the job was something like "directing 'War and Peace' and the Democratic National Convention simultaneously."

RANDOM THOUGHTS ON RECENT VIEWING:

The Spring Thing was a surprisingly pleasing show. What we thought would be a carbon copy of Laugh-in with quick cuts and psychedelic scenes was mostly a leisurely and heart warming love story with Noel Harrison and Bobbie Gentry the principals. The 10-minute segment by singer-composer-poet Rod McKuen also excellent.

Educational politically was the delving by CBS Reports into the controversial ABM (anti-ballistic missile) system recently approved by President Nixon. Fairly and objectively, the program took a look at all sides of the argument.

Long and lanky satirist Peter Cook and cuddly satirist Dudley Moore proved their reputation as sharp wits as Kraft Music Hall started its summer season. From old blighty London, they poked fun at motion pictures, and particularly good was a segment with guests star Anne Bancroft playing the mother in "Rosemary's Baby Grows Up," with Cuddly Dudley as the infant who has advanced 10 years. Fun, too, was Miss Bancroft spoofing her own work in "The Graduate."

Music lovers were treated to "The World of David Amram," focusing on live performances, rehearsals, and the hectic private life of this composer, conductor, and virtuoso French horn player. A NET FESTIVAL special, the program's high point was the world premiere performance of Amram's "Three Songs for America" — a work which takes its lyrics from the words and writings of John F. Kennedy, Robert Kennedy, and Martin Luther King Jr.

Jack Paar has a delightfully irreverent way of looking at things, and his Jack Paar in amusing look at facts and Africa proved to be a totally foibles of that part of the Dark Continent which is Kenya and Uganda, where road signs proclaim that "Elephants have the right of way."

BEST BETS FOR THIS WEEK'S VIEWING:

Today, Sat., May 3

THE KENTUCKY DERBY (CBS, 5 p.m.). Should be one of the more hotly contested runnings of this classic, with our contenders powerful enough to have knocked most of the equine nominees out of the race. Keep a close eye on Majestic Prince, Top Knight, Dike, and Art and Letters. Color commentary will be by Eddie Arcaro and Woodstock's own Heywood Hale Broun.

SATURDAY MOVIES (NBC, 9 p.m.). Shirley MacLaine and Michael Caine make "Gambit" a worthwhile film feature. Suspenseful comedy, set in the Far East, is fast-paced, often lavish, always enjoyable and boasts a great opening twist. Shirl's girl with an amazing resemblance to an ancient queen, and Caine's an art swindler who tries to use the resemblance in an art theft plot.

Sunday, May 4

HOW TO IRRITATE PEOPLE (Channel 5, 7 p.m.). British comic David Frost and associates offer 60 colorful minutes of fun on an unlikely subject. Show's a crash course in driving people up the wall, getting their goat and giving them the needle.

THE H. ANDREW WILLIAMS MAGIC LANTERN SHOW (NBC, 10 p.m.). Popular singer Andy Williams uses slides, film and audio and visual tape imaginatively for this special.

Antique Auto Show Planned

The Greenwood Lake Regional Antique Automobile Club is sponsoring the Annual Antique Automobile Show on the Village Green at Smith's Clove Museum on Sunday, May 18.

Approximately 50 cars and drivers are expected to compete in a number of contests for prizes offered by the Museum (at nearby Monroe, N. Y.) and the Greenwood Lake Club.

Registration is scheduled for 10:30 a. m. at the main gate with the main events commencing at 1:30 p. m.

Scheduled events include a maypole contest, a cranking competition for both Model T and Model A cars and a contest for blind driving.

Awards are expected to be made around 3:30 with most of the cars remaining on display until 5 p. m.

IN THIS SCENE from the NET Playhouse production of Jack Richardson's forceful adaptation of the Greek legend of Orestes, "The Prodigal," Kim Hunter (L) starred as Clytemnestra, Peter Galman as Orestes, and Pamella Payton-Wright as Electra. The ancient tragedy told in modern terms has won two major awards; proved to be superlative viewing when it was aired on Channel 17 this past week.

Guests include Aretha Franklin, Roger Miller and Sergio Mendes and Brasil '66. For the opening, five Andys are seen singing "Happy Heart," in five-part harmony of course, while one Andy stops singing and conducts the other four.

Monday, May 5

GRAMMY AWARDS (NBC, 8 p.m.). Dan Rowan and Dick Martin open this musical hour, which features the 1968 Grammy winners performing their hits. The Record of the Year winner will be announced tonight, and viewers will see and hear Jose Feliciano, O. C. Smith, Dionne Warwick, the Temptations, Mason Williams, and members of the Los Angeles production of "Hair." Nominated for the Record of the Year award: the Beatles, Glen Campbell, Bobby Goldsboro, Jeannie C. Riley and Simon and Garfunkel.

Tuesday, May 6

AMERICA'S JUNIOR MISS PAGEANT (NBC, 7:30 p.m.). Mike Douglas hosts the pageant aired from Mobile, Ala. Tonight, the 50 entrants will be pruned down to 10 finalists, four runners-up, and the crowning of America's Junior Miss 1969.

FIRST TUESDAY (NBC, 9 p.m.). The two-hour TV magazine focuses on: Appalachia in the Southwest, a view of primitive life in New Guinea, a look at a leading heart surgeon, nostalgia of the British Empire, American opera soprano Beverly Sills, the Daughters of the American Revolution, cartoonist Al Capp and seeress Jeane Dixon.

Wednesday, May 7

MUSIC HALL (NBC, 9 p.m.). In London, British satirists Dudley Moore and Peter Cook take pot shots at the generation gap, TV war coverage, psychiatry, swinging Acapulco, and do a movie spoof on the swashbuckling "The Scarlet Pumpernel."

CBS PLAYHOUSE (CBS, 9:30 p.m.). "Shadow Game" is a compelling drama about emotional warfare in a New York business office; utilizes the power failure that blacked out the Northeast in 1965. Written by Emmy winner Loring Mandel ("Do Not Go Gentle into That Good Night"), it features Daniel Massey, William Shatner and William Windom.

Thursday, May 8

SAGA OF WESTERN MAN (ABC, 9 p.m.). An entertaining documentary, "Kitty Hawk to Paris: The Heroic Years," chronicles the first 24 years of manned flight beginning with the first cloth and wire contraption in 1903, and taking us up to Lucky Lindy and his Spirit of St. Louis.

Friday, May 9

NET PLAYHOUSE (Channels 13 & 17, 8:30 p.m.). Dustin Hoffman, now immortalized in modern filmmaking by his performance in "The Graduate," won an Obie Award for his role in tonight's drama, "Journey of the Fifth Horse."

All About Jazz And New Sounds

"Music as a Creative Process" was the subject of two lecture-demonstrations at Bennett College, Millbrook. The programs, to which the public was invited, took place recently in Matthison-Kennedy Auditorium.

Subtitled "Danger, Composer at Work," one lecture was given by Jerome Margolis, composer and music director for the performing arts at Bennett. He discussed new media for new sounds—"tape which is neither red nor filled with Gordian knots."

Dr. Charles Alva Hoyt, chairman of the Bennett English faculty and an authority on jazz, of which he is a noted performer, spoke on jazz improvisation as composition — "the West uses the East's techniques."

The events were part of Bennett's East-West Studies, a required program for Bennett students which seeks to give them an understanding of Occidental and Oriental cultures.

Common Purpose In Student Work

Student work in fine arts and crafts made up the recent exhibition in the Dutchess Hall gallery at Dutchess Community College.

"In an international academic atmosphere torn by dissension and changing values, it is tremendously heartening to note that the search for beauty, meaning, and feeling in the arts has not stopped," said David Lax, head of the Department of Visual Art Theologies at DCC, in discussing the show.

"It is a good thing to look at student work in drawing, painting, sculpture, the crafts, and recognize in such efforts the great common purpose that seems to have eluded us in other areas of human endeavor," he added.

She's for Real!

The voice heard giving the police car radio calls on NBC's "Adam-12" series belongs to Shaaron Claridge, who also happens to be a radio operator for the Van Nuys division of the Los Angeles Police Department. She works a night shift for the police, does her (approved) moonlighting at the studio one afternoon a week.

New 'Little Women'

Stage star Geraldine Page will be the narrator for the new ballet version of Louisa May Alcott's "Little Women" story which will be telecast May 18 by NBC as one of its "Children's Theater" specials.

LIV ULLMAN, seen here in a scene from Ingmar Bergman's "Shame," won an award for "Best Actress" from the National Society of Film Critics for her portrayal in this moralistic film. "Shame," a chilling study of civil war, is currently on-screen at Woodstock Tinker Street Cinema.

JULIE ANDREWS, in sequined pantsuit, does a musical production number with the chorus in "STAR," the film in which Miss Andrews portrays Gertrude Lawrence, the famed English performer. Handsomely mounted flick is the current attraction at Walter Reade's Mayfair Theatre here.

MOVIES

Shame

"Shame" is one of the noteworthy films of the past year... and not merely because anything done by Ingmar Bergman is noteworthy. The performances in this movie by actors and director are of a total, over-all excellence and the film represents Bergman's basic truth; is probably the most unrelenting in theme ever done by the talented Swede.

Now playing at Woodstock's Tinker Street Cinema, "Shame" is a chilling exploration of a loveless humanity and an indictment of man's bestiality and his nihilistic civilization. It is not enough to call this a very creative film with an anti-war theme. It is too universal in its dealing with a nameless and continuing civil war in which human beings strive for survival with animal instinct.

Slowly but surely, Bergman destroys the human elements and relations. A husband and wife are forced to abandon their musical profession and live in primitive fashion on an island farm — not so far from civilization that they cannot still hear the guns of war booming in the distance. They flee from one faction, return to be abused for collaboration; eventually lose all pride, loyalty, dignity and compassion by collaborating. Left with no material possessions and no humanity, they become killers and refugees. But Bergman's basic truth is that they will find on the next island only another phase of war.

The Bergman touch is best in showing humiliations and immorality. Sensitive performances are turned in by Liv Ullman and Max von Sydow, who were teamed in his Hour of the Wolf. A painful and powerful movie, it should be seen because it is a warning sorely needed in the face of holocaust.

Hell in the Pacific

This World War II drama, currently showing at Kingston's Community Theatre, has a total cast of two actors — a Japanese soldier (Toshiro Mifune) and an American flyer (Lee Marvin).

Both find themselves shipwrecked on the same desolate island in the Pacific.

Mifune, who was there first, fights with animal ferocity to keep his fresh water and other stores from the desperate Marvin. The two cannot communicate, their countries are at war, they are deadly enemies. But neither is savage enough to kill the other when the opportunity arises. In time they establish a livable relationship, and their mutual regard grows as they build a raft to escape their jungle prison. Off on stormy seas, they finally make another island housing a broken down military installation, apparently used by both Americans and Japanese before being abandoned. Donning clean clothes and enjoying the food they find, they also get drunk on Japanese wine. But reminders of the men who occupied the place before them breaks their already thin thread of camaraderie. Again they become bitter enemies. The ending is abrupt, ambiguous and provocative — and 'twould be most unfair for us to reveal it here.

Star!

Julie Andrews plays Gertrude Lawrence in this expensively mounted picture of the English star's career. She is best when performing in the wealth of musical numbers with which this film abounds.

Now playing at Kingston's Mayfair Theatre, "Star" traces Miss Lawrence's career as a singer-comedienne-actress from 1906 to 1940. While Julie has some of the legendary Gertie's flamboyance, talent, quick wit and bed-rock determination, she is not totally convincing as the slum child and daughter of struggling hoofers who blundered her way from singing in pubs and dance halls to chorus girl and stardom in big revues, major musicals and Noel Coward plays. Having seen Lawrence on several occasions on Broadway, we found Andrews not quite so tempestuous or effervescent.

Vying with the 17 songs and production numbers which spangle this lavish-looking film is the story of Gertie's private life, including a shortlived marriage, many swains, and a daughter she barely knows.

Play Dirty

During the desert campaign in North Africa in 1942, Captain Douglas (Michael Caine) and a band of mercenaries are assigned by the British to destroy Rommel's main oil supply base, 650 miles behind the German lines. Unknown to them, they're being used as enemy bait to take the brunt of a possible German attack, leaving the way clear for a following regular army unit. That's the plot, in brief, of "Play Dirty," now showing at Kingston's Sunset Drive-In.

There's constant friction between Douglas and the leader of the band in the gruelling course of reaching the destination — a journey that stresses the fact that to survive in the dirty business of war depends on playing faster and dirtier than the enemy. Threatened by Germans and

Pick Two Locally Known Artists For Ohio's Global Art Exhibit

Franklin Alexander, of Woodstock, and E. Ainslie Burke, now of Syracuse and formerly of Woodstock, are the only two locally known artists whose works were selected for competition in Marietta College's "Mainstreams '69" international exhibition.

This year, the Ohio show, which opened recently and runs through June 15, attracted over 2,550 entries. Alexander's and Burke's works, and those of nine other New York artists are among the 76 art works finally tapped for exhibition and competition for $6,000 in prizes and awards.

Two of Alexander's acrylic paintings were selected: "The Pink Dress" and "The Priest." "Dress" is a portrait of long time Woodstock artist Georgina Klitgard, and "Priest" is a portrait of Archbishop Francis of Woodstock's Church-on-the-Mount. Photos of both paintings have been published in Tempo in the recent past.

Alexander taught at Woodstock School of Art and Albany's Institute of History and Art. Studied at New York City's Art Students League, Art Career School and New School for Social Research, and Italy's University of Florence and State Institute of Art in Florence. He has exhibited widely since the 1950's and, among his many awards, the most recent are one from the National Arts Club in New York in 1968, and the

FRANKLIN ALEXANDER

Hirsch Memorial Award of New York's Audubon Society in 1969. Burke, who left Woodstock several years ago to become professor of art at Syracuse University, had his oil painting "Early Spring" selected for the international show in Ohio. Educated at John Hopkins University, Maryland Institute of Fine Art, and New York's Art Students League, he has also worked with Siqueros in Mexico, studied in Italy on a Fulbright Fellowship, and had numerous one-man shows since the 1950's in the Midwest and East. His work is in many permanent collections, including those at Columbia and Syracuse Universities and the Lamont Art Museum.

"Mainstreams '69" is expected to attract close to 10,000 viewers; is being held to attract, display and reward works of art which can be identified through qualities in art to which man universally reacts and which bridge all centuries and art traditions.

From the thousands of entries submitted, only 60 paintings and 16 pieces of sculpture by 55 artists from 21 states and Taiwan were selected for the Marietta College exhibit. The show has seemingly gained a formidable enough reputation in two short outings to make it an annual event in Marietta's $1,500,000 Grover M. Hermann Fine Arts Center.

The Big Winner

Last year's top award, the $1,500 "Best of Show" prize went to sculptor Charles Henry, of Richmond, Va., for a bronze abstract entitled "Seated Figure." Henry is also showing one work in this year's show.

The 76 works selected this year, including those of Alexander and Burke, were chosen from 2,110 paintings and 411 pieces of sculpture submitted on color slides by 683 artists from 44 states, the District of Columbia, Canada, England, France, and Taiwan. With only 55 artists competing from this number—and only 11 of those from New York, Burke and Alexander worn out against formidable odds.

MOVIES

LEE MARVIN gets a firm neckhold on Toshiko Mifune in "HELL IN THE PACIFIC," the World War II drama now playing at Kingston's Community Theatre. "Pacific" is a two-man show with only Marvin and Mifune in the cast.

Arabs, braving a mine-field, hauling trucks up forbidding cliffs, they finally reach the fuel dump, only to find it's a camouflaged blind. Heading off again for the real depot, they find their reward in cynical treachery when news reaches headquarters of Montgomery's breakthrough — an occurrence that makes them completely expendable.

Support Your Local Sheriff

In a rollicking spoof on westerns, affable, quick-witted, fast-drawing good guy James Garner rides into a lawless gold rush town, becomes sheriff and cleans up the place. And, if you missed this film the first time around, try to catch it currently at the Sunset Drive-In or the Rosendale Theatre. It's definitely the best movie of its type since "Cat Ballou" and that's high praise indeed.

The action opens with a funeral in a frontier village. During the burial service, Prudy Perkins, the mayor's daughter, sees gold in the freshly dug grave, and promptly stakes her claim. The subsequent mad gold rush turns the scrubby hamlet into a boom town. Prices soar crazily, and the saloon and Madame Orr's girls do a thriving business.

Into this situation rides big, handsome Jason McCullough (James Garner), who agrees to accept the unhealthy job of sheriff. The townspeople are aghast when he arrests a member of the fearsome Danby clan, and even more so when he thwarts the plans of 15 Danby Kinsmen and hired hands to break the prisoner out of jail.

The gags and double-talk are hilarious, as is an incident involving a long unused cannon in the village square. Relaxed, resourceful, and wonderfully quick on the draw, James Garner as the hero underplays his best comic style. The supporting cast, including lovely Joan Hackett and old pro Walter Brennan, has a fine time with the slap stick and even the music is funny.

(REVIEWED BY TOBIE GEERTSEMA)

'Music from Four Centuries' Theme of Gala Spring Concert

"Music from Four centuries" (and those four would be the 16th, 18th, 19th, and 20th) is the theme of the Sixth Annual Spring Concert being readied by the Music Department of Ulster County Community College. The entertaining event is planned for Thursday, May 15 at 8 p.m. at the Clifford M. Miller School, Lake Katrine.

Performing at the concert will be an array of UCCC musical groups, including the College Chorus, the College Dance Band, various instrumentalists, and the Small Vocal Ensemble from the Stony Brook campus. Robert Stine, co-ordinator of Music at the college, will direct all groups for the Spring Concert event.

Selections by the Chorus will range from "Complaint," by Daniel Pead, an 18th century American composer, through 20th century choruses by Samuel Barber and excerpts from the Broadway musical, "Hallelujah Baby." Featured will be several selections from Mendelssohn's "Elijah," including "Yet Doth the Lord," and "He Is Watching Over Israel," to be sung by the chorus, and "It is Enough," a baritone aria to be sung by Richard Duffy.

Ensemble's Contribution

The Small Vocal Ensemble will represent the 16th century with an English madrigal and an Italian motet, and the 18th century will be saluted by the instrumental ensemble, Patricia Somers, flute, and Kainan Cramer, Harpsichord. They will play a sonata by Frederick Handel.

The Dance Band, new last semester, will play familiar music, "oldies" like, "On the Sunny Side of the Street," ballads, including "Moonlight in Vermont," and Tijuana Brass tunes, "A Taste of Honey" and "Tijuana bamba."

Director Stein, who joined the UCCC faculty in September 1968, has studied with several outstanding musicians in addition to his formal education. His professional music career has included playing the piano and trombone with commercial and jazz groups, playing the harpsichord, conducting, arranging, accompanying and private teaching.

A native of White Sulphur Springs, N. Y., he earned his B. A. degree from Queens College and received his M. S. degree from the State University College at New Paltz.

Flower Festivals Add Magic to May in New York State

There's magic in May. Fields and gardens break out in May flowers and spring flower festivals celebrate the fragrance and color of a new season.

Six major flower festivals are scheduled in New York during May, Tempo has discovered. Spring travelers, tourists and flower fanciers can look forward to attending floral attractions keyed to tulips, lilacs, peach and apple blossoms and roses.

The flower festivals do not confine their programs to leisurely strolls through gardens. Festival agendas usually include the presentation of a queen and her court, a coronation ball and sometimes a parade with boats and marching bands. Most schedule flower arrangement shows, guided tours, fashion shows, concerts and special events. Pageantry is also an important part of the flower festivals.

Flower festival time will begin in Albany, May 9-12, when the state's capital city will hold its annual Tulip Festival. The Albany pageant starts off with the sweeping of State Street by a broom-and-bucket brigade attired in the costumes of the Dutch Patroon era. Tulips in a hundred shades of red and yellow and purple will be on display in the city's Washington Park, where the 1969 Tulip Queen will be crowned on May 10.

Dansville will conduct a four-day Dogwood Festival, May 15-18. This Finger Lakes community is noted for its abundance of pink and white dogwood bushes that annually blossom in mid-May. The program will be highlighted by the selection of a queen to reign over the festivities and by special attractions.

Williamson in Wayne County will stage its Apple Blossom Festival, May 16-25. The 10-day program will include tours through a tapestry of pink and white apple blossoms. Williamson, in the Lake Ontario fruit belt, is one of New York's leading apple producing areas.

On May 17, the annual spring pageant and tulip festival will take place in the Old Westbury Gardens, on Long Island.

The world's largest collection of lilacs will turn Rochester's Highland Park into a riot of sweet-scented color, May 19-26. During the eight days, Lilac Time Festival visitors can walk through 22 acres of pink, white and purple lilacs. The park has 1,600 lilac bushes and 552 varieties on display.

Pink will be the predominant color in Canajoharie on May 24 when the third annual Peach Blossom Festival will be held.

The 17-acre rose gardens in Newark are expected to be in full bloom for the annual Rose Festival, June 21-28. Programmed events include the coronation of a Rose Queen on June 21 and a festival parade on June 28.

While not listed as festivals, several floral gardens as well as fruit orchards in the state come alive during May. Sterling Forest Garden near Tuxedo is usually a multi-tufted blanket of crocuses, tulips and daffodils, and the apple orchards of the Hudson and Champlain valleys are a lure to spring travelers.

For further information, write for a copy of New York State Events Calendars, available from the State Department of Commerce, 112 State Street, Albany, New York 12207.

FLOWER POWER means masses of vivid-hued tulips all over New York State in May. Tulip viewing will be at its best during Albany's annual Tulip Festival, May 9-12; at the annual spring pageant and tulip festival in the Old Westbury Gardens on Long Island, May 17; and throughout most of May at beautiful Sterling Forest Garden, Tuxedo.

27—THE KINGSTON DAILY FREEMAN, MAY 3, 1969

After Dark Scene Kingston Night Life

Who's the new, talented, attractive pianist-song stylist who's attracting attention at the Governor's Tavern in the nights? Centerpiece of her act is her way with a vocal, delivered in a husky, smoky sort of voice and in a style all her own. A former student at the famed Juilliard School of Music, her style has not been copied from any other singer in the field today. Marlaina's act is a lotta act; high-voltage all the way.

She's Marlaina Leslie, but she's also Miss Total Showmanship to those who enjoy entertainment with their cocktails and dinner.

Marlaina has been on Kingston's night scene for only a few short weeks, but she's proving her drawing power at the Tavern with drinkers and diners every night except Sunday and Monday.

A Lotta Act

The Israeli-born entertainer is almost in a class by herself.

keeping the audience with her. Schooled in the classics at Juilliard (she had the same teacher as Van Cliburn, who was just finishing his studies there as she entered classes), she's adept at concertos but equally at home with "Embraceable You." Occasionally, she gets a chance to do something in the classical vein, but never goes too heavy for her audience. Still, when Marlaina plays Borodin's "Polovtsian Dances," popularly known as "Stranger in Paradise," or Addinstill's "Warsaw Concerto," they come through as entertaining as Cole Porter or Rodgers and Hart.

At Top Spots

Forsaking the classics for more popular works some 5½ years ago, she's been well received on the night club circuit. She's appeared in Miami Beach and in such better Manhattan bistros as The Apartment, Towers East, Living Room and Sheridan Hotel, and took the Troy area by storm during a long stint at the Sunset Inn in Lansingburgh. She's also been on Johnny Carson's Tonight Show; was crowned Rose queen by the United Florists Association in New York City's Coliseum in the summer of 1966.

Born in Israel, she moved to Manhattan with her family when she was a tyke of three; began studying music at the age of six and went on to take a master's degree from Juilliard. But the popular field appealed to her more than competing as "a near-genius in the Classics" for work.

Her switch from Mozart to "Moonlight in Vermont" is our gain, and Marlaina Leslie is well worth seeing and hearing on the after dark scene at the Governor's Tavern. (T. G.)

THE Cobblestone

Rt. 214, Phoenicia 688-9968

Dear Food Lovers:

Welcome to the COBBLESTONE . . . the restaurant you've been waiting to find — happiest dining in the area!

Join the merry group of people gathered 'round the Appetizer Table which precedes every dinner, regular or a la carte! Heap your plate with salads and favorite dressings (no extra charge for roquefort!) — add cheeses, olives, pickles, chopped liver, potato or 3-way-bean salad . . and lots more . . all you like!

Then order from a menu chock-full of fabulous choices . . for example: Sauerbraten or Schnitzel; Sirloin Steak; Fried Chicken; Lobster a la Newburg; Roast Long Island Duckling; Beef Stroganoff, and each Saturday and Sunday, Succulent Prime Ribs of Beef, par excellence!

Remember: Every Friday night is Smorgasbord Night at the Cobblestone, from 6-10 p. m. You've tasted smorgasbord before . . but never smorgasbord LIKE THIS ! !

Just bring a hearty appetite and leave the rest to THE COBBLESTONE. We think you'll agree: It's the restaurant you've been waiting to find!

Your hosts,
Rolf and Wally Ailweiler

Going Gourmet

By TOBIE GEERTSEMA

Ever had bacon and eggs (any style you prefer) in a restaurant made neatly attractive by its utilization of panelled and rustic barn siding in its decor? Or poured the syrup over your waffles within buttering distance of an old fashioned ox yoke?

For that matter, have you ever breakfasted or lunched in a barn? If not, and if barn-dining is your bale of hay, you'll thoroughly enjoy the Village Barn, now open for business at 263 Main Street in Saugerties.

If this column has been devoted primarily in the past to restaurants catering mostly to the evening dinner crowd, it seems fair enough this week to say a word to those who take their breakfast out.

There's Atmosphere

And the Village Barn with its fey setting ("lots of atmosphere," rough hewn look, wooden stools, counter and booths, and antique lamps) offers Barnyard Breakfast Specials at prices that cannot be ignored.

Bacon and eggs and ham and eggs, served up with toast and coffee, can be had for less than a dollar. American as mom griddle cakes and European as Paris French toast are listed on the menu for even less. They also come with a mug of savory coffee. For light eaters of morning meals, there's cereal, hard rolls, juice and just plain coffee as lures to this emporium which features a pot-bellied, wood-burning stove on its bright red menu cover.

The Barn also offers a Barnyard Businessman's Luncheon Special that always includes soup or juice, cole slaw and choice of potato. Among the offerings and all in the low, low price range are: a tasty chicken roll special; hot turkey with a country farm flavor; a good-size hamburger; crisp New England fish and chips (that would be french fries on our side of the ocean); and a huge club sandwich special.

Tasty Lobster Roll

For a real taste treat, try the New England lobster roll special.

And if you'll find no water buffalo, alligator, moose, lion or kangaroo delicacies served at this totally American establishment, you'll be given a choice of sandwiches, made just like grandma made them before she turned her barn into a barn for the Volkswagen bus. We've sampled them all—from the turkey to the bacon, lettuce and tomato; and from the western to the hamburger—and found each and every one a satisfying meal in itself.

The Barn also attracts evening meal time diners and, if they're in a rush, they usually end up lingering because of the comfortable surroundings. Dinner prices are easy on the pocket book include soup or juice, choice of potato and vegetable.

There is nothing American cum Continental cum Italian about the menu, however, but the dishes are all good. Among the offerings: roast turkey, roast beef, pork chops, chopped steak, shrimp, haddock and scallops.

The daily desserts are also worth sampling, especially the Barnyard's Own Homemade Pies.

Potpourri

By JOAN L. WOINOSKI

Kept meeting the same people Friday night at Capri '400' smorgasbord as fellow diners—with eager appetites—played round-robin about the gluttony-baited buffet, going back for seconds, thirds, and more (?), with merry-go-round precision. It was enough to make one dizzy!

There was lobster and shrimp, stuffed clams and roast beef, meatballs and pizza. In fact, the only morsels we didn't see were pickled reindeer eyeballs, whale liver pate, elephant meat and eel eggs.

Mr and Mrs. Charles Berardi (she's Andy Murphy's mom) and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bruno were "eating it up;" orchestra leader Vince Edwards and wife were there; saw Harriet and John Stote, Dr. Thomas Lee, Charlie and Betty Ann Tiano; and Dr. Sidney Bell of Alliger-ville whose historic stone house was written up recently in Tempo.

Betty and Gene Radell were breaking bread with John Davis; so was Betty's sister, Mrs. Jim Tyrrell . . . (No, she isn't; there are two Jim Tyrrells in little ole Kingston and this is the other one.)

Gene claimed the pineapple cheese cake was 'way out' but then he liked the blueberry one, too. Strawberry shortcake slices were so long they lapped over plates, and there was apple strudel, whipped creams, custards. But what really broke us up—there among this fantastic array was a separate plate of Girl Scout cookies.

That humorous exterior that Dan Slater shows actually hides quite a deep-thinking tendency; asked to read his verse, "Check-mate" . . . Now that long-haired males at Onteora Central are banned from sports participation, will there be a sudden rush for the violin? . . . Shad was really runnin' at Tommy's Restaurant last weekend and the roe was runnin' out. Margaret and Bill Roosa were among those wearing Cheshire grins 'cause they helped swallow—if not the canary—those last remaining roe. But don't panic! Jimmy DeCicco assured all that more is on the way.

Spring has sprung, supposedly, but what has happened to neighborhood kiddies playing hopscotch, jump rope, jacks hide 'n seek, marbles . . . they haven't lost them? And to where have gone all those rumbleseated cars, lawn swings, roller skates, long curls on little girls, pigtailed with colored ribbons, and tiny tots picking violets? As we see it, the only thing that remains the same is Port Ewen's vegetable man Brash Coniglio who comes peddling his vitamin C every spring . . . sure as showers.

Dynamic Precisi By a Young Tale

Being heralded as one of the most memorable programs of music ever to be heard in the Kingston area is the concert slated in honor of the 310th anniversary of the Old Dutch Church, Tuesday evening, May 13, at 8 p. m.

The concert will feature Gordon Bush, brilliant young American organist. Bush is considered an outstanding talent, having received enthusiastic acclaim from critics who have heard him perform.

Born in Detroit, Mich., in 1943, he studied piano and organ at an early age. At sixteen, he was organist and choirmaster of a major Detroit church, and held this position until 1961, when he entered Westminster Choir College. After two years in Princeton, N. J., as a student of Dr. Alexander McCurdy and Dr. George Markey, he entered the Guilman Organ School in New York City. He received the Artist's Diploma from that school in 1965.

Performer Bush is noted for his sensitive musicianship and dynamic precision as an organist, as well as for his brilliant registrations at the console.

The program being offered on May 13 at the local church, has been chosen specifically to demonstrate the versatility of this fine young talent, and Tempo feels strongly that many will want to attend this superb concert.

GORDON BUSH

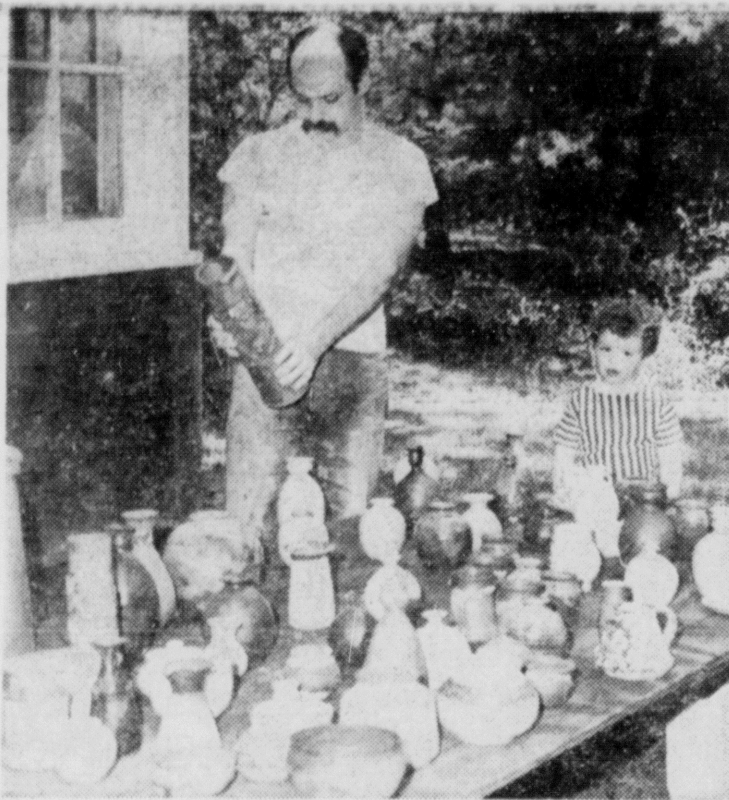

'Bald Soprano' Among Offerings

Bennett College drama department will present three one-act plays tonight. The performance will be a benefit for the Millbrook P-TA, with Mrs. Vincent Abel, Verbank, in charge of tickets.

The program, starting at 8 this evening in Harkaway Theatre, Mellon Center for the Arts, will consist of "The Bald Soprano" by Eugene Ionesco, "Silence on the Battlefield" by David Compton, and an experimental drama, "The Human Abstract."

Ceramics at Freewheel Pottery

PHILIP BRESLER, one of the finest potters in the Hudson Valley - Catskills area, treats his son to a free exhibit of his work in this ancient craft. Bresler will again be offering ceramics classes to those interested, beginning Monday, May 5. Sessions will be held every Monday evening for eight weeks from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. at Bresler's Freewheel Pottery studio on Larson Lane, Woodstock. The ceramics classes, sponsored by the Guild Shop of Woodstock's Guild of Craftsmen, will be limited to eight students per class. For further information or registration, those interested should call either the Guild Shop or Bresler at home or in his studio.
